Don't get me wrong, I loved our past yearbooks. But looking through them, our older books lacked contemporary flair and perspective; perhaps a problem due to the lack of a larger staff of innovative contributors, photographers and editors. However, for an outside reader, criticizing the Review is easy, but making it all come together takes tenacity and travail. Anyone working on such a yearbook, past, or present, is deserving of high praise.

This year's yearbook staff consisted of various editors, each of whom did his own 'special' share of the book. The pages' graphical and textual detail ranged from the extremely complex to the straight-up and simple. Each editor's own personal tastes and preferences adorned each page the way an artist ornaments his work. Throughout the year the editors were continually encouraged by Mr. Treasure, the Review Supervisor, to hand in their pages. I commend his persistent efforts and support. But for the individual editors each page did not consist of a simple or complex computer layout. To make a page spread it meant each editor had to gather pictures, harry teachers for writeups, scan images, and most of all design a visually accentuating and interesting page.

For an outsider these three basic steps to completing a page in the yearbook seems simple. In reality, the Review is complex because pictures were never taken of certain teams, writeups were handed in long after the school year had ended, equipment in the Review Room was deficient or broken, and editors had gone home because the school year had ended. To solve these problems this year's dedicated editors took the 'initiative' to take their own pictures of events, teams and candids, use other school scanners, and finish what their other conterpart editors did not complete. Certain editors had to expiate for what the other editors could not do, but it was the persistent nature of all editors which led to the completion of the yearbook.

As readers, each student or teacher has a tendency to view the yearbook with a critical eye; looking for minor errors and flaws. But each must realize that the yearbook is made possible by students; they put hundreds of man hours into all aspects of the yearbook. The cover, the classes, the graduates, the sports, the events, all parts of the book are done by and for the students. The Review is a student run yearbook, it has a student perspective. If the Review was made by professionals or by a master it would lack ideologies from the student body. The very soul of the school year would not be remembered in the same way.

The Review is just a bookmark in the minds of the students - a reminder of each student's enthralling year at Saint Andrew's,- the editors of the Review just make that bookmark more colourful and memorable.

I came to SAC with the desire to be like others, to conform to the cool stereotype and to be someone I was not. I leave SAC with the desire to be myself, with the courage to stick to my ideals and the potential to succeed. I hope I have been an inspiration to some of my peers as many were to me.

There are many people who have helped with my personal development and intellectual growth. Particular thanks to Mr. Hiltz, Mr. Dominato, Rev. Arril, Mr. Smith, and to Mr. Halstead for helping me along and for putting up with me. Also to my Mum and Dad, you've done a good job managing my life - I'll take it from here. My St. Andrew's experience has been better than any of us ever imagined. To infinity and beyond!

From the first moment I looked up at my 6'2", 230 lbs. roommate in grade nine, to skipping ahead of the grade 7's in the dining hall in my final year, my life at SAC has been an interesting one. It's been full of good times and great friends. We've been through a lot. I'd like to toss a few thanks into the air. First to my teachers who put up with me for five years. To Mr. Foy and Mr. Smith who stood by me with Pipes and Drums, and to "Glen" (Mr. Walden): you've helped me a lot.

Next, I need to give a BIG thanks to my friends. You guys stuck with me through thick and thin and never doubted me. I have to give credit to you for kicking my rear into shape. I never could've made it without you.

Finally, I'd like to thank my parents. You sacrificed a lot to send me here, and, trust me, it was worth it.
Leaving friends and family to start a new life at university will be tough, but SAC has prepared me to give it a good fight.
Oh... and Andy, long live Ford!

"The best life is school life," so the saying goes. Well if that's the case, the good life is almost over. Before the moment passes, thanks go out to all those who came bearing their support. I know who you are. Thanks also go out to those who gave me a hard time. I know who you are as well. Without you, I wouldn't be where I am today; which, by the way, is unascertained. If you have been enlightened, please drop me a line, (my number's in the back). As someone who lives by moments, I can honestly say this one's going to last forever. Don't worry, I know what I'm talking about.

The most important thing I have learned over my five years at St. Andrew's, is not to be afraid of change. It is possible to be an individual inside of a group. I learnt this through experience, and with the help and patience of good friends.

If you're looking for "do your best" or "seize the day" type proclamations, move on. You can read those from the guys who probably didn't listen the first time. All I'm going to give you is "whatever works". If it works for you, go with it. If you do what you want with an open mind, you'll be fine. Others will end with a quote from someone famous. So will I.

"The greatest tragedy would be to lose the ability to colour inside the lines."

When my scrawny, fourteen year old body climbed up the Mac House steps seven year ago, I thought death was near. And why not? Boarding school was for delinquents and kids with no parents. Well, within hours I was settled into my three-man room and chatting it up with a bunch of guys who would later turn out to be eternal friends. That same day, in Mr. Bedard's speech in front of the first year students and parents, he stated that our lives were about to transform and an entirely new and fascinating world was going to unfold before us. St. Andrew's College is truly a fascinating world. I can't imagine another place that offers such opportunity and chance to excel in every aspect of life. S.A.C.unraveled strengths and abilities in me that would have likely remained sealed for life if I had attended anywhere else. I will be leaving here with an overwhelming mix of experiences and memories through a diverse group of friends. No matter where and how we end up in life, these experiences and memories with you guys will be ones that will never be erased nor forgotten. A school is nothing but walls and a lot of paper without teachers and staff. These people turn the wheels of St. Andrew's and are responsible for a significant part of what we take with us. The dedication was remarkable and there could be no better role models. However, it was neither my friends or teachers that got me into St. Andrew's in the first place. It was my parents. Their wisdom, support,excellent decisions, and of course, money, gave me everything that I have, in school as well as out of school. There is no possible way to repay them but I guess that's what they are there for. Thanks everyone for such a great time and I'll be sure to see ya.

SAC. A solid foundation for life. A launchpad, if you so wish. Providing two things: Friendship and Knowledge. Great memories, ties, opportunities. Mr. Foy, your insight and omnipresence will never be forgotten. Mr. Smith, your advice and good humour are crucial for every Andrean. Mr. Myrans, your explanations of mankind's workings will be missed. Thanks to all of the teachers that make SAC work.

When people ask me why I went to St. Andrew's, I tell them that it was an investment. An investment of a lifetime. St. Andrew's taught me not only education but they made me grow up and give me some focus in my life. I thank all the faculty for their professionalism and the way they care for all of the students.

I would like to thank my parents for this wise investment; I hope I achieved all the goals which you had for me and more. I thank you both for the love and support that you have shown me throughout my years here at St. Andrew's. Believe me it did not go unnoticed. You both were there for me during the good and the bad times and I love you for that. From hockey to school I could always count on you for being there. Thank-you. To my brothers Chris and Jamie I thank-you also for your support and guidance. (Chris, thanks for picking me up and organising the "get togethers " at home!!) I would like to thank another special person in my life. Jana Hall. Your caring way kept me at ease with the distance from you. Your support and love meant the world to me and I thank-you for it.

I also would like to thank Mr. Foy and Mrs. Perrier; you two were my "parents" at SAC. You were always there to lend an ear and listen to anything that I say. You were also there to keep me in line and to stray me away from trouble. For this I thank-you. Mr. Dunford and Mr. Galajda I thank-you two for teaching me to be a better hockey player. I know my skills definitely improved over the three years at SAC and I owe that to the both of you.

I want to start off by thanking my mom and dad for sending me to the wonderful world of St. Andrew's. The last three years at S.A.C. have been anything but easy. Adapting to life at S.A.C. has been a three year process for me, I am just now starting to get the hang of it. Without the support of family, friend and teachers, I might not have lasted until graduation. To my scattered group of friend you know who you are, thanks for letting me be myself. I would also like to thank all of the teachers at S.A.C., especially Mr. Smith for being well....Mr. Smith, Mr. Hiltz, for introducing me to the world of underwater diving, and Mr. Halstead for his humor. Special thanks however, goes out to David Fortier. With your friendship, you gave me a new view of the world. Thanks.

The other day I realized that I was no longer a young boy and that soon I would have to make vital decisions which would lead me down my path of life. This thought has scared the piss out of me, but these decisions are the choices that form maturity. Hopefully down the road I will learn to choose the right path. And so here I try to quickly summarize six years at Saint Andrew's. This institute has given me some long life friends but I have also seen it take away good friends.

Therefore I have mixed feelings about the school. In the end though, it is the strength of the family bond between each one of us that has made these six years fly by. I can't forget to mention my folks for the support, and their cash. I love you guys although your childish antics keep me away. To the boys in Kam's Common Room, I wish you all the best and I hope that everyone of you find your dreams. but to sum up this career at Saint Andrew's, I would have to say, I came here, a nice, respectable, caring boy, and now I leave these gates, as an Andrean.

No one cares about something ya didn't do.

It has been a long four years at SAC. I have learned a lot these past few years. It was SAC which made me realize what I had to do to make it in this world. I learned what it is like to work at SAC. This is something I would have never learned in public school. If it was not for SAC I would not be going to university. Most of my experiences at SAC were good and I am sad to go, but I know I must go on.

I was given an option of whether or not I wanted to attend St. Andrew's College. That was five years ago. Well, I'm glad I made the right decision. There are just too many things that I would like to reflect upon but that would take up a few pages. So, in brief, I would like to thank the staff members for all the support and advice they've given me over my career at SAC. I'd especially like to thank Mr. Dominato for being a great Advisor and friend. Also, Mr. Smith, Mr. Arril, Mrs. Bell, and Mrs. Pilieci for helping me out when I needed. Oh yeah, and Mr. Kimmerer for being the Housemaster that he is. Sitting with the graduating class on Prize Day will be an event I'll never forget. I will definitely miss SAC when I leave the campus as a graduate. This school has prepared me for the next level of education and I will never have regrets. The saying goes, "SAC friends are for life." To the Daves, Porkass, Hui, Jubes, Hallsey, Turko, Klipper, Zank, Jan, Walker, English, Nasty, Hurls, and Yo Yo; thanks for being the best of friends. And the last but certainly not the least, my greatest thanks are to my parents and family who have supported me through these five years, without you guys I wouldn't be who I am today. I'm grateful to my parents for the sacrifices they endured in giving me this opportunity at SAC. To my family, you've been the most important people in my SAC career. Thanks, not only for the financial end but also believing in me and my abilities. I love you all. My respect and gratitude to all the teachers and staff here, you were all great.

Although SAC emphasizes individualism, I would have never made it this far without my friends: A.Y. (brother-in-law #1), B.C. (fat lady killer), P.Y. (Yurk Chee Ho), A.H. (my little brother), K.K. (brother-in-law #2), E.K. (Sun Gor), H.C. (But Shiu), Willy (Free), C.C., A.L., R.N., F.W., M.Y.K., A.M., W.H., D.L. I enjoyed living with all you guys on Hong Kong Street. Also, thank you to everyone else who has walked the walk with me and for those still on the road, keep on trying and never give up on your dreams. Believe in yourself!

First, I want to thank my parents. For a long time I have been taking for granted all they have given me and rarely expressed my appreciation. Mom and Dad, THANK YOU SO MUCH! I would also like to thank Mr. Smith for being such a nice chemistry teacher. You're the BEST, sir! And finally I want to thank the following people at SAC: Fu, my roommate, who provides me with games, food and Don't Weekly, Choi, who gives me rides to Wong Gim, Dun, who beats me 5-0 in fencing and Ng, who always stirs the toilet bowl. A Few Words...

It's surprising to realize this is my last year of high school and my last year at SAC. I will really miss St. Andrew's and I believe I will never get tired of the school. In Grade 7, when I had my first day of school, I wasn't sure I would have liked this 'all boys' school . But before I knew it, I fell in love with SAC. Besides not having any girls, I think SAC offers the best high school education available.

Just like many of my peers, school have been a wild rollercoaster ride! Up and down, Up and down. But the ride just keeps going higher and higher. I will remember all those events like focus, mayfest, the dances, parties... they were the good ol days!!

I'd like to thank my parents for making the decision of sending me to St. Andrew's for all six years that I've been here. I'll miss a lot of friends, the sports, the atmosphere, the teachers... everything! I am ready to go.

I want to use this opportunity to sincerely thank many of my teachers: Mr. Treasure for making me interested in English (although I am not interested in it a great deal). Mr. Timms for teaching me skills of public speaking and writing. Mr. Shields to opened up my mind toward science. Mr. Halstead for introducing me many social problems in the world. Mr. Kimmerer and Mr. Paolini for teaching me many art techniques. Mr. Stuart for giving me a chance to "ace" calculus (although I made a mistake of dropping the course.) Mr. Smith for demonstrating me what a true leader should be. Mr. Inglis for many inspiring mathematical problems. Mr. Hemmings, my fencing coach for teaching me fencing techniques. Mr. Arril for his meaningful stories over the years. Mr. Hanson and Mr. Foy for taking care of me the residence and giving me the opportunity of being a house captain. Mr. Gaertner for being a helpful tutor for six years.

Special thanks to my family and my friends for the support over the years.

I have too much to say in this short comment. It is always hard to say good bye, but it is time to move on. I will remember what I recieved from the school and I will use the skills I learned, to overcome challenges in the future.

Four years ago I wrote an entrance exam to get into SAC, and now I'm writing my grad comments on my way out. I remembered that I resented going to an All-Boy private school (especially with Saturday classes). However, my experiences at SAC have taught me to believe otherwise. The number of good memories are endless and I shall cherish them for the rest of my life.

First of all, I give my whole-heated thanks to my parents, who supported me both emotionally and practically (money). Maxine, I couldn't have done it without you, thanks for always standing by my side. To all of my friends: Ken (my roommate for 3 years), Chet, Alvin, Eric, Fu, Willy, Waffy, Vincent, Anthony, Howard, Angus, Derby, Ng, Michael, Mao and Wilson. Thank you for always being there when I need you most. Good luck to all of you in your future, we'll keep in touch.

Special thanks to Mr. Kinney (my tutor), Mr. Hemmings (my fencing coach), Mr.Hiltz, Mr. Perrier, Mr. Wenk, Mr. Sommerville and Mr. Walden. I had indeed become wiser under your guidance and inspiration.

The world is tough, but I will survive. Good-bye to SAC, my second- home for 4 years.

Not only am I leaving SAC with a diploma (and a sympathy for cross dressers), I am stepping into the world with the support of many friends, wonderful memories and some maturity. Guys, I'm sorry I had to leave a year early - I'm going to miss you. Greek, you've been there since day one. You've been with me through it all: my first speeding ticket, my first accident, and all of my women troubles. Come to think of it, you're damn jinx! I'm going to miss you anyway. To everyone else, it has been great. Chauncey and Bruce 'the guys who hate sunlight,' the laughs were good ones. To all my teachers, all I can give is my gratitude and thanks for making me a better person. Mr. Smith, you have been 'the guiding light.' You were never too busy for my troubles (no matter how trivial) and always had a wise word to send me on my way. I wish you the best of luck in the future; never lose your keen wit, it keeps us laughing. To my parents I can't do you justice in these few words. The sacrifices you made for me will never be forgotten. Thank you for always being there for - no matter how bad I screwed up. Dad, I'm afraid that you do look like Ned Flanders; thank God you don't act like him. Mom, thank you so much for all of the love and kindness you given me.

It's interesting to leave a place. Leaving reminds us of what we can part with and what we can't, then offers us something new to look forward to, to dream about.

Most importantly, I need to thank my parents, for without them I would not be here. Without their support, both spiritually and financially, I would be lost. I also have to thank my sister, Nicole, for her ongoing advice and the Phillips for providing a place for me to hide. Thank you to Mr. Foy , Mr. Josselyn, Mr. Smith and the rest of the teaching staff for making my life at SAC a living hell. And a special thanx goes out to the kitchen staff for making these last three years nutritionally defunct.

I'd like to thank Kevin Hurley and Neil Ritchie and I wish you the best in your future endeavors. Tim Jackson, I have learned a lot from you; Thank you. My years at SAC have been some of the best times of my life even though I've never worked so hard. To tell you everything would take a few pages. That's a few pages that I don't have. The highlight, I must say, is the friends that I have made and the relationships that I leave with. Thanks to guys like MY, CA, JH, JM, RB, VP, PC, IM, IR, AE, DR and many others.

I would also like to thank those who made it possible (God, it sounds like something from the Emmy awards). I really appreciate my parents for their continued support and keeping the house chores to a min., my grandparents for their support, and my sister for staying clear of me on bad days You guys really helped me through!

St.Andrews College is the firm foundation on which I'm going to build my life. I am a reflection of what I have come in contact here. I should mention that the key to making my life at S.A.C. so enjoyable has been my friends. If I could only take one thing out of this place it would be the importance of friendship. To my friends, I'm greatly in debt. I owe much thanks to Mom and Dad for everything, especially for providing me with the opportunity to come here. After five long years at SAC I am delighted to move on yet there's a part of me which loathes the idea of leaving it all behind. I've had my ups and downs at SAC, but the Andrean memories will remain till the day I die.
Mr. Bedard: I am forever in you debt. I can't thank you enough for all the help and understanding you have given me throughout my five years at SAC. Life isn't easy and both you and I understand that, but without a supportive headmaster such as yourself at my side I wouldn't be here today thanking you with my utmost gratitude. Best of luck to you in the future. Thanks a million.
Staff: I'd like to thank the teaching staff for contributing and giving me one of the most important and useful things available on the earth today: "KNOWLEDGE".
Dad & Mom: Ups and downs, ups and downs, ups and more downs. Dad, I would like to thank you for giving me the opportunity to attend SAC and allowing me to graduate after an exceedingly arduous five years. Mom and dad, the wonders of having a family aren't always wonderful; however, the damage that presently burdens us can and will eventually be restored. I love and will always love the both of you for as long as I live. Don't ever let any of my moronic mistakes get in the way of our relationship. Thanks again for a memorable five years.

I can still remember my reaction when my aprents told me I was going to SAC - I tried playing with the traffic on Yonge Street. But funny enough SAC turned out to be great! So, like always Mum and Dad, you were right. Now let's just hope you were right for not springing me a car.

Well, my six years at SAC have been unforgettable - especially the first day I met Mr. Smith, but he turned out to be human after all. Of course there were ups and downs, but at the most part it was a blast. SAC has enriched my life in so many ways form the playingfield to the classrooms to the exquisite delicacies of chez la dining hall. One of the key things that will stay with me the rest o f my life is the friends that I have made here at SAC. I would like to thank all the guys - you know who you are! I would alos like to thank the teachers who have helped me throughout the years. If anyone is actually reading this there is one message that I would liek to pass along which is that things aren't as bad as they first seem (usually). There is something you can do about it.

Now what kind of grad comment would it be if I didn't finish off thanking my parents? Thank you Mum and Dad for all your love and helping me through he years at SAC. You've made a great investment and I appreciate it enormously. I love you.

Over the years at SAC, it has been a great experience for me. It gave me a chance to learn things that are valuable to me that will last me a lifetime. When I first entered this school I was afraid that I could not make any friends and I was thinking that being in a all boy boarding school must suck. Now I have made a lot of friends and they have changed my life. I found that being a boarder at SAC is actually fun; there is always somebody here to play with and to ask about homework when I have trouble. I want to thank all of them.

Suppose that we are wise enough to learn and know and yet not wise enough to control our learning and knowledge, so that we use it to destroy ourselves? Even if that is so, knowledge remains better than ignorance. It is better to know even if the knowledge endures only for the moment that comes before destruction than to gain eternal life at the price of a dull and swinish lack of comprehension of a universe that swirls unseen before us in all its wonder. That was the choice of Achilles, and it is mine, too."

As I prepare to walk through the St. Andrew's gates one last time, I wonder how I will replace this community that has walked me through six years of my life? The fact is, I won't. I can't. SAC is irreplaceable. I'll move on after Prize Day, and enjoy myself wherever I end up, but the cross of St. Andrew will be forever tattooed across my heart. Mom, Dad, I applaud you for sending me here, and I probably wouldn't have even made it through grade 8 without your love and support. I owe you everything and I love you both. Michelle, thanks for your useful advice over the years, and Bri, thanks for putting up with me and my friends every Saturday night! To my teachers and coaches over the years who have motivated and challenged me: Thank You. Mr. Swan and Mr. Cameron, your guidance both on and off the sports fields have inspired me and has taught me lessons about hard-work and "class" among other things. You handle your lives with perseverance and dignity, and I wish you and your families all the best. The past six years have been great! SAC is a place I will never forget. I would like to thank my parents for sending me here. Without them, I would have never had the chance to go here. Thank you Mom and Dad!

What makes a school great is the people in it - that is the students and the staff. The friends I have made here will last me a life time. I would like to thank Ian for showing me a more calm side of life. Also, I would like to thank Brad for giving me beverages at the parties. I have changed a lot in the past six years and I am sure that this fantastic experience will bring me great success in the future. I am proud to be an Andrean!

In grade 7 I was asked how long I planned to stay at this school. "For the duration," was my answer and that's what I did. I suppose for my friends and I the only jobs worth doing were jobs well done and that's what we did. I now take a look at ourselves and ponder, for we are the final product of our own actions and responsibilities, a strange sense of elation washes over me as I reflect on our past achievements. The reason being that true hard work brings a reward all of its own.
In 1912 when Roland Amundsen and his men conquered the South Pole, they paused to reflect. Each of the men smoked a cigar at the Pole. It was a magnificent gesture. Without such gestures where would man be? So as my friends and I savour our cigars, we savour a similar moment. And for this moment I would like to thank all my friends and their families for giving me a piece of their life and making me part of it. I would also like to thank my family and parents for patience, love and understanding. I love you mum, I love you dad.

When the going gets tough and the stomach acids flow
The cold wind of conformity is nipping at your nose
When some truly new atrocity has brought you to your knees
Come with us we'll sail the Seas of Cheese.

I have shared many secrets with SAC and it has shared some with me. I will always remember Mr. Smith and early reports. It will be tough for me leaving SAC; it has treated me like a son, from a boy to a licensed driver, to almost a man. I thank St. Andrew's for giving me a chance to be someone, and Mr. Hanson for believing in me.

Most of all I thank my mother, Antonella Favaro, for giving me the opportunity to go to one of the best schools in Canada. "I know we haven't been close lately but my life could not go on without your support. I will be in-debt to you for the rest of my life."

Now to thank the whole crew in room 7 and especially The MOOSE, Moe, English, Al, Mark, and the seven year club (Juman, Jules, Reale, Dunner, Steve, Andy??) you guys have treated me like true friends and I hope our ties will never break.

My education at St. Andrew's College wouldn't have occurred if it wasn't for my parents' efforts. I will forever be grateful for the sacrifices that were made to send me to SAC. I have learned from the hard times I have had here, and enjoyed the good times; leaving a better all round person. Mr. Foy and his insightful perspective on life, had a huge impact on my life in many ways, for which I am thankful. I shall always be proud to say that I attended and graduated from St. Andrew's College.

The past several years have proven to be a great learning experience. For this I'd like to thank my family and the masters and staff at S.A.C.. Without them all none of this would have been possible.

I've met many good people in my years here, and made some good friends that leave me with a lot of fond memories. It is hard to believe that my career at SAC has already drawn to a close. The SAC community became a home of sorts to me and those within it a family of which I have become proud to be a part. The memories and friendships will be long lasting and the experience received has been invaluable.

Thanks a lot SAC! and mom and dad- for allowing me such a rewarding opportunity-you're the best.

I can't believe that my 5 years at SAC has finally come to an end. It seemed like only yesterday when I asked for directions on how to get to Laidlaw House on my first day. Over these unforgettable 5 years, I had to endure cadets, carol service, chapel, Saturday school, and SAC food but hey, that's what being an Andrean is all about. Being an Andrean, I have learned many things such as discipline, leadership, respect and professionalism (from Mr. Hiltz).

I would like to thank all the teachers who have taught me over the years at SAC. Special thanks goes to my squash coaches Mr. Cameron and Mr. Jones, my housemaster Mr. Somerville and my tutor Mr. Paolini for sharing their knowledge and experience with me. Same goes to all my friends at SAC: Chet, Herbs, Joseph, Michael, Vinny, Waffy, Willy, both Howards and many more.

Most important of all, thank you mom and dad for everything you've done. You've made great sacrifices to send me here to receive the best education and I have apreciated your time and support through all those years. As I continue down the road of life, I'd like to wish everyone at SAC a fond farewell. Thanks SAC for all the wonderful memories.

Some people said, "life is a journey." Now I am leaving St. Andrew's College and going to the next stop, university. Three years of SAC life is just like a wonderful learning trip. Although it is short, I enjoyed this journey. I have learned a lot of things in this magnificent college; SAC taught me how to face problematic life(eg. impossible tests) with the most positive attitude.

Team life had a very important role in my SAC life. My teammates gave me encouragement and advocacy and now it is time for me to say "thank you" to all my teammates. Lastly, I sincerely thank all teachers who had taught me in my SAC years. Especially Mr. Giel, Mr.Sommerville and Mr.Halstead who had helped me to develop my working skills. In addition, I would also like to thank all my friend at SAC. Without the warmth of friendship the SAC journey would not be as fruitful.

For those of my friends who have not yet graduated, I have the following words to you: "Forward, nor flinch nor fear, Ever with heart sincere...." Thank You!!!

Four years at SAC is not a short period. I learned things to last me a lifetime. Tons of tests and assignments everyday forced me to learn how to multitask. Mac House duties taught me the balance of authority and responsibility. I am sure this experience will help me along in the competitive and complicated society ahead. Many thanks to all my friends at SAC, who have been through cold and warm weather with me. Without you guys, my life at SAC would not be as bright. I want to thank those who had guided me through these years: Mr. & Mrs. Perrier (Housemasters); Mr. Smith; Mr. Timms (my tutor); Mr. Hemming, Mr. Wally Yeung (My coach) and most importantly, thank (X) you to Mr. Hiltz for being my professional physics teacher, who taught me the importance of professionalism.

Once inside those stone gates St. Andrews is much more than just a high school, it's a community, a sense of togetherness that can be felt no where else and is unique to each and every Andrean. It's a place where teacher's are not only educators but companions, it's a place where Mike Hillick is never too busy to make sure you get seconds, it's a place with Mr. Dawson and his infamous video cameras.

In my five years a S.A.C I've learned more than just Calculus, Biology, and World Issues. I've learned how to be a champion and a gracious loser, I've learned how to laugh and to cry, I've learned that no matter what Mr. Smith says he likes me, most importantly, however, I've learned the true meaning of friendship and have made bonds inside these gates that will never be broken.

Thank you to Mr. Dunford and coach Galadja for four very memorable hockey seasons and sticking with me through good times and bad (more good). Thanks Doobs for putting up with my shenanigans, you're a true sport. Thanks to the Barrons, Bielecki family and Geney for providing me with countless meals and nurture, little things go a long way, you hold a piece of my heart. St. Andrew's is a place where I have spent most of my post-pubesence (until now). I cannot honestly say that it has been entirely joyous all the way through, but nothing ever is. I can, however, say that it has been valuable in offering me oppourtunities which I would never have had any other place. I have formed valuable friendships here and have also learned some valuable life-skills. St. Andrew's is not the right place for everybody,but it was for me. No where else can a person participate to the same extent as at St. Andrew's.

At last I must offer the ceremonial Thanks. Thanks to my family for your support, (Ray, Shirley, Lisa, Nicole, Babca, Dzadza, Coica). Thank You to Mr. Foy for your advice,guidance and trust. It may be a cliché for grad comments, but as I look back at the kid I was in grade nine, I don't see the same person now. I've grown older, and yes maybe even wiser thanks to these years at SAC. It seems just yesterday that I stared at my father's bewildered face as he left me there in Mac House. To me it was a new experience, to my parents, they had lost their little boy for good. I think that I am glad that boy is gone, even though some of him still lives. I have just built a new shell around the foundation he made and SAC is an integral part of that shell.

Shouts out to the buds that helped me through these years - embarrassing as they were. And thanks to all of the "roommates" this year for keeping me up to all hours of the night. Thanks to my parents for picking up the tab and giving me the encouragement I needed to make it this far. Thanks to my sister "J" for those wicked summer nights out on the town. Peace.

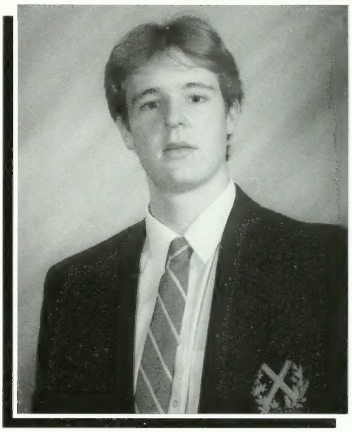
Ed Mercer (1989-96)



S.A.C. has given me more than an education. It gave me the confidence and self esteem than I need for the future. S.A.C. has taught me that life gets a hell of a lot better as you get older. While grade eight pulls you down, O.A.C. boosts you up. It seems never ending but it does get better. The barbs of life have promoted a growth in me that has pushed me on to new heights and I must thank many different people for this. Mr. Smith, although the talk may seem harsh, it is better than any pep talk. Mr. Hiltz, every question makes sense to me. To Mr. Foy, Mr. Hanson and Mr. Perrier thanks for helping make the school what it is today. To Mum, thanks, especially for driving through all those cold winter nights for the skiing. To Dad, thanks for being there when I need you but not pushing, I always appreciate it. To Will, from the fights in the car to the times we've had, you're quite a brother. To G.M., M.L., A.M, and C.A., you make after school hours what they should be, thanks. To Alice, friends since grade four, friends for ever. Finally S.A.C. what a real school should be like.

Moving into room 203 in Macdonald House, seven years ago, filled me with excitement and anticipation. Moving out of room 168, in Flavelle House, will undoubtedly fill me with regret and a feeling of loss.

Believe it or not, I have learned respect, responsiblity, and the importance of friendship. To my parents: I guess it worked after all, thanks. To Mr. Bedard, Mr. Foy, Mr. Gaertner and Mr. Myrans, (to name a few) thank-you for your undeserved faith and unfailing support. Finally, a heartfelt thanks must go to the Room 7 crew. In particular: Scott, Mark, Neil, Fred, Steve, Stephano, Kevin and Duane; memories will go on and on. See y'all on the flip shards.

After having spent over a third of my life here, it's difficult to even imagine leaving, however change is inevitable and "change is good," as long as you don't forget where you came from and who got you where you are; I for one, never will.

It is very unnerving when one has to leave a warm climate and co-ed schools to come to an all boys, kilt wearing, boarding school in a freezing country. None the less, I came for if anything, the experience. Looking back at last two years, my time here at SAC was truly great, I have benefited a great deal. SAC has instilled in me many qualities such as teamwork, responsibility and leadership which will stay with me during my years at University and beyond. I would like to thank all the teachers and advisors at SAC for they have helped in my development, especially Mr. Foy who was there whenever I needed him. Finally I would like to thank my parents who made it possible for me to come here.

My five years at St.Andrew's have been a very memorable and rewarding time for me; with many memories and experiences that are sure to stay with me for many years to come. My stay at St. Andrew's has taught me some valuable lessons about life, but foremostly to push myself to the max and to strive for the best in academics as well as on the playing field. I would like to start with thanking Mr.Foy and Mr.Smith for all the encouragement and guidance. Also, thank you to Mr. Hanson for giving me the opportunity of being Co-Head of MacDonald House with Ed. Especially I would like to thank my Mom and Grandmother for supporting me and giving all the encouragement I needed during my years at St.Andrew's.

My five years at SAC are finally coming to an end. It's hard to believe they've gone by so quickly. They have truly been an unforgettable experience. It feels like only yesterday when my dad first drove me through those gates of brass, and up that long, winding road. I still remember my reaction when I learned that I had to go to chapel in the morning, when I learned I had school on Saturday mornings, when I learned I had to sing in the Carol Service, when I learned I had to do drills every day for two months, when I learned I had to march in downtown Toronto in a skirt, and when I learned I had to do both for the Cadet Inspection. What's scary is that now, I no longer think of these things as being the least bit abnormal. But all in all, the good times I've had here by far outnumber the bad.

I want to take this opportunity to thank my family, all my friends, my housemaster Mr. Swan, my tutor Mr. Kimmerer, Mr. Smith, all the teachers, all my coaches and basically everyone at SAC from the librarians to the kitchen staff. Every one of you have been special and I consider myself lucky to have known you all. Although I'll be leaving SAC, my memories and experiences will never leave. Thanks, it's been a trip.

Words can not easily express the journey one encounters through six years of St. Andrew's. It seems only yesterday I was dropped off in front of Dunlap Hall for New Boy orientation - now I'm receiving my high school diploma from the best educational institution on earth. Although the academic struggles followed me for the better half of my stay; the support of my parents and the second opportunities from Mr. Bedard, who believed in me, gave me the strength to finish strong-and that is what I did. Best of luck to my fellow Grads. I hope they are successful wherever their two feet take them. The road's been long and hard - the rewards and memories are forever. The sacrifices my parents went through to drill it in my head that this school was the best paid off. (thank-you); now I join life's highway.

I have experienced, suffered, made mistakes and luckily, I have learned to deal and recover from them. Thanks to: Mr. Dominato, for being my great volleyball coach and not hating me for dropping his class; Mr. Swan for being the nicest housemaster there is, and not losing his cool even when I didn't show up to chapel. I've met many good people in my years here, and made some good friends that leave me with a lot of fond memories. It is hard to believe that my career at SAC has already drawn to a close. The SAC community became a home of sorts to me and those within it a family of which I have become proud to be a part. The memories and frindships will be long lasting and the experience received has been invaluable.

As this chapter of life come to an end one recognizes the advantages that St. Andrew's College offers. It provides more than an excellent education and various extra-curricular activities, but a community where the people are of a special quality. It is here that friendships are made to last forever. This is what makes SAC so remarkable. During these seven years I have learned from the hard times, and enjoyed the good ones.

I would like to thank all my friends who helped me get through the ups and downs of life at SAC. Most importantly I would like to thank my parents. If it wasn't for their support, faith and guidance, I wouldn't have obtained the knowledge, leadership, and responsibility which St. Andrew's has provided. I will never forget this place and will always be thankful. I will always be proud to say that I attended and graduated from St. Andrew's College.

Coming to St. Andrew's, half way through grade 8 was quite an adjustment. Now that I look back on six years of my life, I can say with pride that these have been the best years yet. Throughout my time at this school I have experienced the up's and down's which comes with growing up. Deciding to stay at this remarkable school, all the way through, was the best decision I ever made. Trust me, it's worth it.

I have many people to thank for guiding me in the right direction. To all my friends, thank you for being there when I needed you most. Hurls, your like no other friend, thanks for all the great chats we had, your the man - don't ever change. Wes, thank you for just being yourself. In my three years here at SAC I have experienced more than I thought possible. When I first came here I didn't know what to expect. My second week here I was gated by Mr.Kimmerer for going to the IGA. I began to wonder what type of institution I was in. Slowly I began to settle in, made new friends and got to know the rules, and ways around them. My last year here has by far been the most enjoyable one. Many of the friends I have made will be friends for ever.

I would like to say thanks to everyone that helped me through the years, Mr. Hiltz, Mr.Smith and Mr.Myrans for helping me make important decisions and to my parents for being there and supporting me both financially and mentally.

St. Andrew's, as all other institutions, has its ups and downs, its good teachers and its bad. Beneath the refined appearance of a well groomed, finely tuned boys prep school, lies a solid core of boys who care for you and go out of their way to make life as enjoyable as possible. As I step back, the glory of winning Hockey and Football teams, parties and formals, plays and exams fade, and I am left with a warm feeling that has been fostered through lifelong friendships that have started at S.A.C.

These friends, coaches and mentors have revealed the ultimate value of comraderie and teamwork. I would like to thank Coach Cameron for his devotion to players, students and the school. You are not only a coach, but a friend to all.

Thank you Mom and Dad. I love you Sucky!

A week before opening day in grade nine, I was at a BBQ somewhere. All I remember of this is some old-boy (slightly inebriated) slurring to me that SAC would be the best experience of my life, and if I put 110% in I would get 110% out. He was right and if there's one thing I learned at SAC, it's that you can have as good a time as you allow yourself to. I'd like to thank my mom and dad for allowing me this experience and for always being there and supporting everyone of my decisions, no matter how bad it was. I want to thank all my friends, you know who you are, especially Ralphy and Goose friends since grade nine, and Kammer for being a wicked roommate and friend for all those years.
Through all the ups and downs (and there were a lot), I'm glad to say that I'm leaving with a smile. Most important I'd like to thank my brother Bart. Without you I would not have experienced anything, you do a great job of keeping me on track. Thanks.

It seems only yesterday I entered the Gates of St. Andrew's scared of what this new experience will be like. Now that my years of attending SAC are over, I'm scared of being away. The five years at SAC have taught me how important friendships are. It seems to be something that can be taken for granted, however at St. Andrews I feel friendship is an aspect that is stressed to a great extent.

I want to thank all of my teachers, and motivators separately, but there isn't enough space. But to my teachers, tutors, coaches, there is one word that sums you all up to me, and that word is friends, thank you. To Mr. Swan, thank you for you endless effort to enable me to survive the bad days and flourish in the good ones, without you I do not know where I would be headed next year. Thank you for everything.

Most importantly, it is my parents who I thank, love and appreciate the most. They have done so much for me. They were always there, and would go that extra mile to make my life at SAC a happy and enjoyable one. To Dave, I wish you all the best in your next years at SAC

To Mr. Smith, thanks very much for kicking me into line every once in a while and for helping me chose where to spend my post secondary years.

Thanks Dad for giving me the chance to attend SAC and Mom for going back to work to pay for it. I have had some of the best years of my life at SAC and I will never forget what it has done for my academically and socially.

I can't believe that the last five years of my life here at St. Andrew's have gone by so fast. I guess it's true that time flies when you're having fun. I have so many great memories of SAC that I'll never be able to forget it, my experiences here will definitely be a part of me for the rest of my life. How could I ever forget the likes of Doobie Dawson, Mike Groves and Robo. And what about that night of March 27, 1993 in Dryden Ontario when we won it all!! There are so many people I must thank who helped me through this long painful road in which we call St. Andrew's. All of the boys on the hockey team, my teachers, Squee, Mr. Dunford, Coach Galajda for everything, I owe you so much that I wouldn't know where to start to repay you, and my parents, without your support and dedication to SAC I would never have had so many great memories.

At this point, everyone always gives a nice little reflection on their wonderful years here at St. Andrew's, but, my time here was limited. My entire high school career has been a trip to say the least, and S.A.C. has a special place on that trip. However, I'd like to use this little paragraph to thank all the people that have made my time in high school what it's been. First, to all the guys here at SAC : Dunner, Hurls, Jules x 2, Kam, Parent, Klipper, Ritchie, Reale, and anyone else, you guys have been good friends for these two years. To next years first hockey: Freddie, Brownie, Marsh, Tates - give 'em hell boys! Bring back that OFSAA gold we deserved. A million thanks to all my friends at Deerfield: MacLeod, Bix, Zeke - you guys may never read this, but I love you anyway. Especially, to Des and Ted in K.C. - for four years you guys have been long distance best friends and will be friends for life. Thanks, also, to all my teachers along the way who continue to believe in me no matter where my work ethic is. Last, but certainly not least: Sandi, no matter what happens over these next couple years, you will always have such a special place in my heart. Good luck to all in the future, it's been fun!

Let's see how quick I can get my car privileges taken away. "I don't want you drinking those Roadies or Rockets or whatever you call them"(Big Ron). Blair, you're batting a thousand tonight. My six years at SAC have truly been an experience that I will never forget. I came to SAC as a tall and lanky kid and I'm leaving a tall man(?) with a bit more meat and some facial hair. There are three distinct things which I have gained from my years at SAC; 1. I have gained friends that I will never forget. 2. Mr. Smith will always blame me, no matter what. 3. I will always be proud and remember the traditions which St.Andrews has allowed me to be part of.

I thank Mr.Dunford and Mr.Galajda for giving me guidance on and off the ice;my parents for making the sacrifices to send me to SAC and my grandmother for picking me up when no one else could. SAC is a preparatory school for university and it has definitely prepared me for Acadia and its local hangout: The Anvil.

I would like to thank my parents and my grandparents for giving me the opportunity to attend St. Andrew's. I would also like to thank my friends, both here and at home for making my Andrean experience at the worst bearable and at best superb. I will always remember T & J's beautiful waitresses, covert midnight missions and so many gulus and biscuits in town. Twenty years from now, I will be either a writer or a social worker. Hopefully, I can look back at this and say that I was right. I only spent one year here, but in that short time I learned a lot. For example, how much I appreciate women, privacy and two day weekends. I also learnt about responsibility, independence and how to survive both academically and in life. I also thank SAC for doing all any school can possibly do to prepare me for university and success. (On the slim chance that I should fail in life, I reserve the right to revoke the prior two statements.) One thing is for sure, my memories of this school will always be interesting. Thank you SAC of an experience that changed me in so many ways.

After seven turbulent years my career as a student at S.A.C. has come to an end. I am relieved to have finally completed high school, even though I have no idea of what awaits me in the future.
Since my early years in Mac House I grew and learned, in many ways more than just academic. Throughout though, in my introverted ways, I kept many questions, doubts, and fears hidden inside.

Later, as personal problems amounted and hindered me in finishing my final year, it became uncertain whether I would be returning to complete my O.A.C. year here. I was eventually drawn back by my familiarity with the place. It was a little weird to be back at first, after my former class-mates had already graduated, but despite that I quickly got back into the rhythm of things.

As I now stand before the future I'd like to thank anyone who made the past more than bearable and built S.A.C. into a home for me. As well, the Woodworth's who had an open door for me whenever possible.
Finally I have to thank the most important beings in my life, who gave me the financial and emotional support to keep me alive: Mamáma, Max, Tommy (in memory), Ben, Mum, and Dad.

Anthony Yip (1993-96)

Sayings: Michael, long time no see, you are so fit.; Jar-Jar Yu, Ah!!; KK, are you going to Queen's this weekend?; Hey! Sun Gor, sul pay!; Billy, where is my friend Chow Wai Kong?; Herbert, dododododo....do!

After spending three years in SAC, I have gained valuable experiences and met a lot of friends. Being a boarder here provided me a chance to learn things like independence, responsibility and respect.

I would like to say thanks to some teachers who have taught me, especially Mr. Kimmerer, Mr. Dunford, Mrs. Hiltz, Mr. Giel, and Mr. Perrier. There are also many friends who helped me a lot during these three years. I will not forget them for the rest of my life.

Here, I would like to say thanks to Howard (gives me Q-tips), Bill & Herbert (Provide chances to practice my inching skills), Angus (gives me ideas for all English Assignments), Aho (provides me the racing-post), Jar-Jar Yu (types all assignments for me) and KK, Derby, Danny (skips classes with me), Raphael, Eddie, Paul (my brother), Willy, Wai Lau and the chefs in the dining hall, who have cooked nutritious meals for everyday (especially the delicious PASTA).

Finally, I would like to say thanks to my Mom and Dad for providing me such a good opportunity to study in SAC and to my guardian who has been taking care of me for these three years.

Activities: Prefect, Sports Captain, 1st swimming 6a, 1st Football 2a, 1st Rugby 2a (1996 ISAA Champs), Drama (Damn Yankees), PPP, Co-Captain of the "Time Out Club", "Rocking the Boat", Muskoka 2a, Seven year club, Common Room 3a, Osso's room, Red beard, Big V Drugstore, Quebec 94, Deny, Deny, Deny, roadies, and Nightcrawling with some mouldy Salsa.

Well it's hard to believe I've graduated. I still remember starting at SAC seven years ago and wishing that I could go home. Now, having completed Grade thirteen it is time to move on to the next stage of my life and again part of me wishes to return home, only this time at SAC. As well as providing me with the best education, growing up at SAC has also given me the strength , determination, and confidence; some of the key elements that I will need in the future. Looking back at the years, I'm sure that along the way I left a lot of heads shaking as I was trying to be pointed in the right direction. Although I was less appreciative at the time, I can now honestly say that I am very thankful for everyone's patience. I sincerely appreciate the sacrifices my family has made for me. Pal and Opa, I wish you could be here with me. Mr. Foy, you are truly a great friend, who was always there for me. Mr. Bedard, thank you for your guidance, I will always appreciate the second chance you gave me. Special thanks also to Mr. Whitehead. To my close friends Smells, Porkass, Blair, Ralph, Biggs, Osso, Brannon, Martin, Jan, and Justin; let's keep in touch. In closing I will always cherish my days at SAC, for the friendships and memories the school has given me will remain with me a lifetime. Farewell to such a wonderful school. I now realize what an honour and privilege it has been bestowed upon me as one of the '96 Grads. Please remember us.

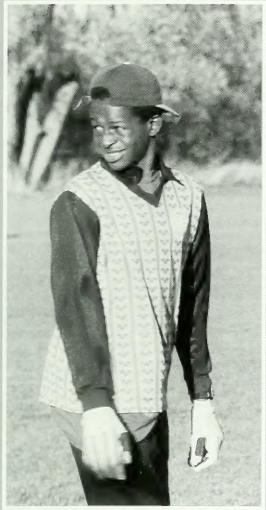
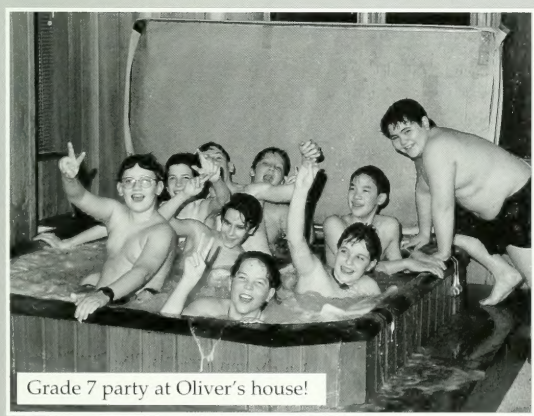
Laidlaw House





Grade 7 party at Oliver's house!

Laidlaw - The Biggest & Best House -by far!

The sounds of laughter and the comraderie generated by our house air hockey game and our video game systems reverberated throughout the top floor of Dunlap Hall early each morning. Our annual water polo games against the boarders generated tremendous enthusiasm - almost as much as the 'steak and caesar' barbeque that we all look forward to each spring.

Academic honours and athletic awards were bestowed upon many house members, but our most prestigious award (the T.E. Harrison cup) went to Andrew McNabb - a three year veteran! Aaron Racine and Alain Chicoine each received a great honour - one of the Tilston awards. The Hockin cup for Lwoer School clans was again decisively won by Robertson clan, with Douglas clan in hot pursuit.

Special thanks are due to our two Heads of House - Ikhaz Kadiri and Nickolas Mennen for attempting to organize a fun year for everyone. Our thirteen housecaptains who helped in the day to day operations, and provided such great role models were essential to our success this year.

Best of luck to those moving on to the Upper School next year. Take what you have learned in the Lower School and use it for continued success in the senior grades.

D. Whitehead.

Sifton House

Sifton House had a very interesting and exciting year. Under the co-heads of house, Kam Chan and David Reale, many activities were accomplished. In the Fall term, Siftonites travelled to the Sky Dome to watch the Raptors play the Bullets. Then in the 2nd term, Siftonites teamed up with Memorial House to battle against Flavelle house in Sgt. Splatter's Paintball! Thanks Mitch!

Once again, Sifton House had the best house clothing. With fashion designer -to- be Kammy, he produced five articles of clothing; from hat to the incredible Tab shirts - to the comfortable fleece pants. Sifton house steins were also produced.

Highlights this year would include the no-sleep Chinese Ghetto on the 2nd floor, the grade 13 party central room #114, the 'no-flush the toilet' mysterious person, the month and a half room change by Kam and Ryan, the KGLIHR event, and the fabulous day we had on track and field day!

Nonetheless, we enjoyed BBQ's every Thursday in the Spring term. The house ran very smoothly and without a lot of trouble. Thanks to all grads, especially Kammer, Main-vein, Porkass, Dunner, Walker and English. We must not forget to thank our Housemaster, Mr. Kimmerer. Good luck to all Siftonites next year. Don't let me down Mitch and Browny!

Flavelle House

Flavelle House had the fortune of having a collection of characters that one hardly could imagine living in the same country let alone house!

Mottley's snoring, Pitt's voice, Zank's "Fudgepacker", Captain Just, Lazy Lumpy, Biggar's feet, Christie and his phones, Stockster, along with plethora of other people made Flavelle the house to be in.

Flavelle cleaned up in Paintball versus the other houses, and won Track and Field day yet again. The typical Flavellian held his own in whatever regard he excelled in, whether it be sports, academics or early morning noodle cooking!

We are pleased to report that the 1995-96 year was a succes and that next year looks just as promising.

Heads of House

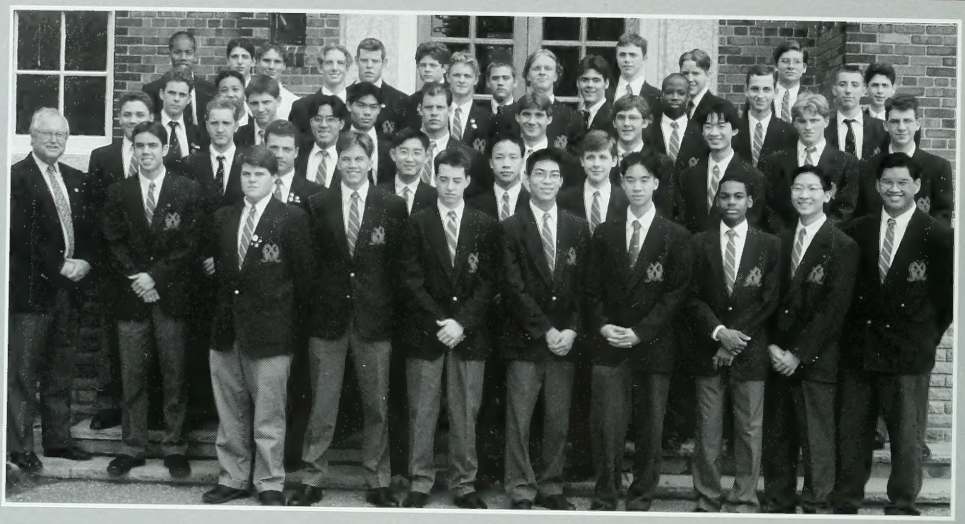
New House



Looking back, I can say on behalf of all New House members the the 1995-96 year was a rewarding year. With the leadership of Mr. Somerville and the assistance of House Captain Matt Thorne and the fellow grads, the House had numerous memorable occasions and accomplishments.

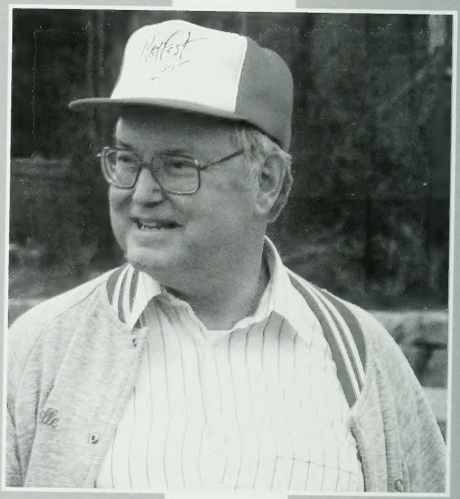
Aside from having the ultimate common room on campus that allows the boys to congregate and share stories about the weekend, New House was very successful in other aspects of school life. Once again we ruled the academic road with the high standing Chris Abraham (OAC) and Ricky Leung (Gr12) who were accompanied by countless others who earned scholar status.

Athletics were not far behind. Being dubbed strongly as the "House of Brainers" with little athletic presence, we proved that reputation wrong with great performances at the annual cross-country run in October as well as at the traditional Track and Field Day in May. Rep sports were represented well by New House members. Many of the boys participated on various teams and some members were captains in such sports as football and hockey.

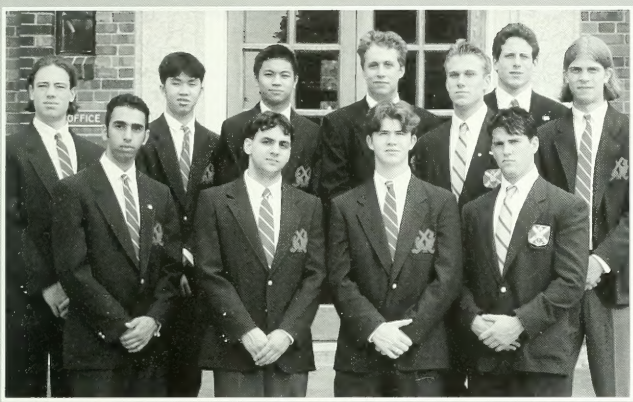
In the Cadet Corps, Cpt. Abraham led a well disciplined squad through the traditional Inspection that went so well. Focus saw members of New House put on great performances in countless productions and helped with the ever popular Mayfest.

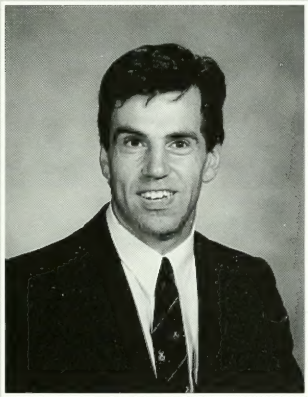
1995-96 was our year. New House rose to the occasion once again and reigned over the other Houses. Of course, what else would you expect!

Dave Parent



Ramsey House





... no more identity crisis for Ramsey!

Throughout the first half of the 90's Ramsey House had an identity crisis. Our first common room, beside Mr. Kimmerer's room, was taken away from us. (Mr. Smith confused 'redecorating' for trashing.) We moved to the loneliest part of the school and then unselfishly gave it up to the athletic department, to be used as the new weight room.

After all this moving around we have finally found a place to call our own (although we have to share it with Mrs. Perrier's gym class). It's so cosy you'd almost want to get a key and sleep there on weekends. In fact, Ramsey House members have practically taken over the athletic building; be it working out in the weight room or playing basketball during Chapel. In fact, the athletic department has turned into a very studious place. We often see Chris Haslam rounding up a study group and heading into one of the change rooms at break or at lunch to do a little cramming before a test.

Best of luck next year and keep up the good work.

CLANS

UPPER SCHOOL CLAN DEVELOPMENTS

Every boy during his life at St. Andrew's College belongs to a clan; the clans are named after the colourful family tribes of ancient Scotland. During the year our clans compete head-to-head in the cross-country run, the intramural track and field meet, and sometimes in the past in a one-act play festival. Putting on a dozen plays during the three days of Focus on the Arts Week has understandably taken precedence. Perhaps if a different time in the year could be found, it would be a different story.

Certainly there is the space, if not the time, to stage several other activities whereby we might express our house pride. In the past Mr. Smith has organized an inter-clan rugger tournament; likewise I used to be involved in clan vs clan debates. Why not a swim meet, or a table tennis tournament on a boring Friday evening? I'd like to see us rediscover a couple of these temporarily lost traditions.

There are three areas in which points can be gained toward the winning in the upper school of the Housser Trophy: academics, extracurricular activities exclusive of sports, and Andrean representative sports teams. Point totals are computed on a per capita basis so that the size of the clan has no bearing on the outcome. The final standings are announced on Prize Day and one clan has the honour of holding the Trophy for the ensuing year.

There are occasions during the year when we are reminded of of the significance of the clans and houses in our lives, and we take the time to recognize those students who truly make a difference to life in our school. As Coordinator of the Clans it is my job to weigh the applications of deserving students, to enable as many as possible to receive their clan colours while making sure that equity is maintained.

Clan Colours second class are presented to students who have earned in excess of 150 points over their senior years. First class colours go to those who have exceeded 250 points and this time the bar is white and the inscription is sewn in red. They look particularly fine on the white first team sweater coat which we haven't been seeing much in recent years. Look for it to return to the Guild Shop in the months to come hopefully. Finally there is each year a very small and select company whose members earn their bar to first colours by achieving well in excess of 350 points and this feat is symbolized by the wearing of a white and red bar surrounded by gold brocade.

Public presentation of these awards takes place on two occasions during the year, the first of these being St. Andrew's Day around the end of November. An account of our two banquets appears elsewhere in this issue. The other occasion when we pay tribute to clan award winners comes near the end of the school year at a special assembly. On this occasion our special honoured guest was Douglas Worling who is just now retiring from his position of first school archivist. His speech was fascinating and memorable because he illustrated it with the display of unique items from our collection. Ken Ryan as our second archivist will be continuing the spendid work done by Doug Worling.

This year a gratifying number of students qualified to receive their clan colours. Our congratulations to each of them, not only for distinguishing themselves personally, but also for contributing to the betterment of their clan and school. Their names are listed at the end of this article. A couple of observations about the final standings which were announced on Prize Day. For the past two years Leslie Clan or New House won the Housser Trophy. This impressive run was brought to an end by Ramsey House and it isn't too difficult to see why.

Ramsey was first in the senior cross-country run and second in the track and field meet. The top boarder clan in the cross country was Buchanan or Memorial; however, in the track and field meet it was once again MacPherson or Flavelle who took the honours. They combined fierce competitive spirit and awesome organization. Ramsey came in second and Leslie and Buchanan shared third place in a dead heat.

In terms of participation on athletic teams in term one Leslie was just a little ahead of Ramsey, followed by Stewart, MacPherson and Buchanan respectively. In term two Ramsey was well out in front of Leslie followed closely by Buchanan, with Stewart and MacPherson bringing up the tail end. In term three an interesting but troubling phenomenon was to be seen. Never has the degree of participation in representative teams been so low across the entire school. Many boys, especially those in the day contingent, seemed to feel that having contributed in the first two terms, they were entitled to a term off. In term three it was MacPherson who stood first followed by Ramsey, then Buchanan and Stewart with Leslie in the cellar. It becomes clearer why they didn't repeat as winners of the Housser Trophy. Congratulations to Ramsey for taking the honour back and to Buchanan who have emerged as the strongest of the three boarder clans. It is my hope one day to see us present a special trophy for the latter, just as we do in the Lower School.

On the academic front it is our day students who are dominant and the two day boy houses were nip and tuck all year with Leslie significantly ahead at Christmas, but with Ramsey in first place both in March and June. Among the boarder houses it was Buchanan and Stewart who engaged in close competition for third place overall. Once again MacPherson/Flavelle were particularly well-represented in the performing arts. This year most of the top debaters and public speakers originated in our day boy community. Let's get some more boarders who can stand up and hold forth!

The MacPherson Shield is presented annually to the most spirited member of the school community, sometimes a staff member, sometimes a student. This year the honour went to Neil Ritchie, a resident of Memorial House. His good humour was infectious whether at sea level on the muddy lower fields or at the 14,000 foot level in Nepal.

The Robertson Laidlaw Trophy, presented annually to the boy who in the last two years of his career earns the greatest number of points for his clan, this year was closely contested by half a dozen members of the Upper School, but when everything had been weighed in it was Julian Battiston, our Co-Head Prefect who claimed this trophy on Prize Day .

My thanks to all who took part at any level and who contributed by their loyalty and good sportsmanship.

LOWER SCHOOL CLAN DEVELOPMENTS

Even more noticeable than in the upper school is the rivalry between the three boarder clans in Macdonald House (Bruce, Montrose and Wallace) and the two dayboy clans in Laidlaw House (Douglas and Robertson). Numerically the day boy constituency is becoming larger each year and even a casual glance at the final standings reveals the dominance of the Laidlaw boys, particularly on the academic front. But this does not mean that they have a monopoly on spirit and participation -- far from it!

For this particular credit goes to Mr. Michael Hanson, of Macdonald House who during his house mastership has made the clan system a vital part of the residence experience. A good many evenings after study were enlivened by indoor soccer, basketball, water polo and floor hockey games which pitted the clans one against another in friendly competition. It might be conceded that there weren't quite so many of these evenings during the year just past. We shall miss the ingenuious challenges on the board and "mateyness" (if there is such a word) of Peter Carnegie.

It's a pity that the day boys can't be around at that time of day to defend their honour. Unhappily once again the indispensable rope went missing and the Trans-Shads tug-of-war did not take place perhaps saving the brainier Laidlaw-ites from being dragged into the water by the brawnier Mac-Housers! Perhaps those stereotypes do not hold water, but alas we shall never know! Would someone like to contribute a stout rope?

This year's winner of The Rupert J. Ray Trophy for the top clan in Macdonald House was a pleasant surprise, a victory for Wallace Clan for the first time in several years. It is interesting, however, that over the close to ten years that this trophy has been existence the split between the three clans is close to being even, with a very slight edge going to Bruce Clan. Thomas Long won the King Memorial Trophy, Wan-ki Park won the Edith Grant Trophy, and Alex Naghi by the vote of his peers won the Manny Cominsky Cup.

The Hockin Trophy is competed for by the five clans in the Lower School, and this year it was again won by Robertson Clan, but by a fairly slim margin over their compatriots in Douglas. Next year may mark a new order. Congratulations either way to Mr. David Whitehead and the young men of Laidlaw, and to all those who brightened our lives with their efforts.

DEBATING

... SAC's intellectual heavyweights!

Once again SAC held onto its place among the premier debating schools. We did not have any one speaker who reached the heights of last year's Robert Burke; nonetheless we recorded some signal achievements during this past year.

Most significant was the job we did hosting The Nora McRae Public Speaking Tournament in April. We attracted 90 competitors from over 20 schools, both public, separate and independent, plus some 70 outside judges. Around 60 present Andreans contributed to the running of the day and from all reports this was the best tournament of its type to be offered this year. Mr Arril created a new event called "This Just In" which combined the best of radio newscast and impromptu speaking. Through this event we established links with schools whom we hadn't met before such as the Linden School. The top team of speakers over the day for the second year in succession came from the Toronto French School. It is to be hoped that many of the timers and "gunners or gofers" from our lower grades will have discovered an interest in public speaking as a result of witnessing some wonderful speeches.

Each Monday evening the core of the faithful met in the Tuck Shop to hone their talents and to decide on the events which we would enter. Space doesn't permit mention of all the teams that we put together and the tournaments that we took part in such as those at St. Clement's, TFS, Grenville Christian, RSGC and Roxbury Latin School in Boston for the International Public Speaking Competition of Independent Schools. Jonathan Hood, Jason McIntyre and Pierre-Alexandre Filion had the honour of representing us at this prestigious event. We had very enjoyable social get-togethers with Havergal and Holy Trinity including a subsequent show debate there in front of their whole upper school. On Thursday afternoons Mr Arril and several members of the senior executive worked with our up and coming novices and we hope to expand on this aspect of the program in the future by sending beginner teams to Pro Con debates in Toronto where they will gain valuable experience.

The most memorable event for a small fortunate group of our juniors was to be invited to spend the long Thanksgiving weekend on the beautiful island of Bermuda debating their opposite numbers there and putting on display debates in schools where debating has not been strong. We were to be like missionaries there spreading the true faith of debating, and subsequent reports testify to the fact that we planted the gospel seed well and won a good many converts! Some eighteen months before we had a similar group of young Bermudian debaters and their coaches with us for coaching workshops, friendly competition and sightseeing. The lucky Andreans who accompanied Mr Ray and Mr Arril on the return visit were Alex Gawel, Ian Green, Alex Naghi, Justin Williams and Erik Yamada. We were marvelously looked after by our Bermudian hosts and hope to see this friendly link continue in future years.

The three Fulford Tournaments this year were hosted by Branksome Hall, Appleby College and St. John's Kilmarnock School. The issues were always challenging and we worked hard in the preparation stages. Special thanks goes to former debaters Stephen Pitel, Robert Leckey and Robert Burke who helped our teams at different times with their research and strategy and to Mr Timms who coached the second term team. At each tournament we put together both a senior and a junior team and these names are the most valuable of our debaters during the past year. In term one our standard bearers were Chris Abraham and Jonathan Hood with Tomas Hirmer and Adam Richards as the juniors. In term two Jason McIntyre and Jameel Bandali were the seniors along with Russell Fraser and Aaron Styling. In term three we chose Adrian Nusaputra and Justin Lindquist plus Justin Williams and Michael Palmer. There was always a third back-up man who prepared along with each team and was ready to step in if the need arose -- a very valuable role for which full credit isn't always given. Simon Williams, Christopher Stock, Brad Livingstone and Andrew Ipekian all contributed in this way. Furthermore we are known for never showing up at a tournament without the full promised complement. Best wishes to Grenville C.C. whose teams were the eventual winners of the Fulford this year.

February brings with it the regional tournaments in all language categories of the Ontario Student Debating Union of which we are very active members. Mr Ray continues to serve on the executive of this provincial association. Thanks to the arrival of a very enthusiastic and able student from the province of Quebec, Pierre-Alexandre Filion, we were able to take part in bilingual competition for the first time in a couple of years. Pierre did us proud coming first in central Ontario and winning the right to go to the Provincials in Niagara Falls in April.

It was not until May once again that a date could be found for us to defend the Headmasters' Cup which we regained last year in competition with the Toronto French School. We drew upon our best debaters and anticipated a spirited argument defending both sides within the same day of the resolution that history is catelog of crimes and misfortunes. It was a severe disappointment when TFS were unable to assemble a team on the day we had agreed upon and chose to default. Our two teams however were ready to go; we had impartial outside judges and an audience of interested students lined up, so we went ahead with our half of the day's program and pitted our two teams against each other! In a close decision Jonathan Hood and Pierre Filion for the negative defeated Chris Abraham and Justin Lindquist for the positive and we kept the trophy for another year, though not in the way that we had counted on.

On Prize Day we recognized the contribution of Jonathan Hood, our incumbent President and a seven year man in the program, with the Brooks Cup presented by former coach Mr William P. Skinner. Adrian Nusaputra and Jason McIntyre were presented with Craig Leslie gavels in recognition of their help with the junior program. Alvin Yeung was chosen as the most valuable junior and Russell Fraser and Aaron Styling both received gavels in recognition of their efforts at the intermediate level. As has become customary in our debating society the graduating seniors have a great deal to do with the formation of the executive for the year to come, and I am heartened by the group they have chosen. I am happy to announce that Pierre-Alexandre Filion will be our next President, Adrian Nusaputra will be our Vice and other key roles will be played by Simon Williams, Jason McIntyre and Brad Livingstone with other members still be be chosen. The opportunities to become involved are great; the experience will be of value throughout their lives to those who acquire it; and the fun to be had goes without saying. It only requires YOU, the reader and member of the St. Andrew's community in 96-97, to plug yourself into the equation, and debating will go on from strength to strength! My thanks to all for their loyalty and enthusiasm.

The Prefect group of 1995-96 enjoyed a very challenging but successful year. The finest group of young leaders ever assembled led the student body to the most exciting year in recent memory. An unforgettable Homecoming brought the pride and spirit back to SAC's sports fields, gyms and arenas. The year continued with a high powered MacPherson Tournament, and ended with our Mayfest celebrations, that were highlighted by the hypnotist and the Battle of the Bands.

A special thank you to Mr. Foy; your help and advice through the year was a huge help. Best of luck to you and your family. Thanks to Mr. Bedard as well. Your support throughout the year made our job very easy.

Good luck to this year's prefects and the rest of the class of 1996. A great career at SAC was capped off by an impressive Grade 13 prank! Thanks to everyone who helped out with the desks. So to next year's prefects: we wish you the best, and we'll see you at Homecoming.

NEPAL

Once again a keen St. Andrew's contingent trekked to the far outposts of Nepal. Under the leadership of teachers Mr. Greg Shields and Mr. David Gaertner, and under the auspices of the Sir Edmund Hillary foundation, SAC boys experienced a once in a lifetime opportunity. Surrounded by the awesome splendour of the Himalyas the students worked enthusiastically to volunteer their services and help in various community projects.

U16 Football

Coaches: J.Walden Esq., R.Kinney Esq. G. Smith Esq.G.West Esq.,P.Eyres Esq.

This year there were more than 40 boys who came out for U16 Football. There was a central core of players who returned from last year as well as a group of new recruits. Despite the experienced players we were hard pressed to put together a team that could dominate on the field.

We lacked one or two dominant members who could assume team leadership and lead by example. As a result although we had several players who progressed and displayed tremendous improvement in acquiring the necessary skills we did not have a natural leader. By the end of the season all boys showed development as many new skills were acquired but when the final test came on game days they were often not able to put everything together.

We played UCC at Homecoming and lost by a large margin. When we returned to play them at home we allowed them to score 20 points in the first half before coming back to score 14 against them in the Second half. We lost the game by one touchdown.

We played Appleby twice and lost both games by ONE point late in the fourth quartér. We split our two games with Ridley and our best game was against TCS whom we beat by 43 points.

The MIP was Alain Chicoine.

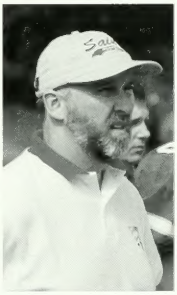
The coaches would like to thank all who played and hope that all players will continue their football career next year.



First Football

The success of a team is often measured in terms of its final record. This is unfortunate, for while the 1st team did not win any championships, they were a success In 1995 the team established three goals:

1. A winning record in the regular season

While this might seem to be a modest goal it was somewhat optimistic in light of the 1994 record of 1 win in 7 games. Pre-season began in the heat of late summer and the talent of the '95 squad soon became obvious. The return of injured players like Fred Perowne and Tim Jackson as well as the addition of talented new players Glen Cowan and Richard Couture made an immediate impact. Three early season victories against UCC and Ridley assured the first goal. We finished the regular season with a record of 4 wins and 2 losses.

2. Compete in the Independent School Final

Such a goal would be difficult without securing home field advantage for the semi-final game of the playoffs. Using the adage that defense wins games, the '95 Saints dedicated themselves to this cause using several valuable offensive players on defense. The addition of running back and team MVP Ryan Sommerville to the defensive line strengthened what was the best defense in the league. The strong play of Kevin Hurley, Andrew Wilson, Steve Mantrop and team MIP Mike Faruggia helped us to a 28 -13 defeat of UCC. Defensive captain Matt Thorne provided steady leadership throughout.

3. Represent the Independent School League in the Metro Bowl

Early in the season Trinity College established itself as the favorites to win the league. The Saints would have to defeat TCS in the final game. Unfortunately this was not to be. Through three tough games the Saints fought hard against the eventual ISAA champion.
Scoring punch was delivered by the quarterback tandem of Perowne and team captain Wes Smith. This duo proved to be very effective and added a dynamic passing attack led by receivers Carl Zank and the team's leading scorer, Blair MacPherson. The offensive line was anchored by center Brad Livingstone. Only veteran tackle Scott Sutton will be graduating this year, so the future looks very bright.

SILVER (STRENGTH, INTEGRITY, LOYALTY, VALOUR, ENERGY, RESPECT)
The coaches would like to thank all the boys. Their commitment to this team was truly exceptional. To the graduating 13's, good luck in your future endeavors. To those who will return again in the fall of '96, let's make it 3 for 3.

1st Soccer: The Challenge of Rebuilding...

This year was a rebuilding year for the 1st Soccer team. Being made up of mostly rookies, our goal was to finish the season as one of the top four teams. When it came down to crunch time, T.C.S. was defeated to give us a third place finish. A valiant effort against Ridley, (who went on to win this year's championship), was not enough to get us into the finals and instead, we found ourselves fulfilling our season's goal to finish in the top four. Special mention goes out to this year's M.V.P. Chris Heinig, and this year's M.I.P. Edward Mercer.

2nd Soccer: Pulling together...

Tier II soccer had a slow start this season, after a defeat at Homecoming against U.C.C. When it came down to playing Appleby, St. Andrew's finally pulled together and advanced to the playoffs. The first game went into two overtimes, and required a penalty shoot-out, but we ended up the victors with a score of 4:3.

We advanced to our next game vs. Trinity College. Trinity managed to score the first and last goal, ending our season in the semi-finals. The team would like to thank this year's captain and MVP Constantine Constantis as well as this year's M.I.P. Mark Landry; also the top scorer. A special thank-you to Mr. Swan for his coaching expertise.

First Soccer: From the Coach's notebook...

This turned out to be a very exciting year for first soccer. In many ways we were starting from scratch with Mr. Stuart and I taking over the duties of coaching and having only three players returning from last year's very successful team. It looked, at best, like a building year. This was a team of youthful size and inexperience. A reasonable first objective seemed to be finishing in the top 4 teams of our 8 team league, thereby securing a playof. position. With the strong leadership of captain Simon Williams and assistants Chris Heinig and Jamie Walker we were pleasantly surprised when it suddenly looked like we had a chance to do better than any of us had expected!

This team has every reason to be proud of the final result. They lost onlyl 2 out of 7 regular season games thus meeting its first objective. We advanced to the semi-finals where weplayed against league winner Ridley College and lost in a hard fought game 1 - 0 .

Highlights ths year include a near victory against league and championship winners Ridley college at their homecoming where we were ahead 1 - 0 until the last 5 minutes of play. Also, the CISAA tournament in Ottawa where the consolation final against Hillfield was played under sun, rain and snow! The Saints brought back a large trophy.

Best of luck to our graduating players: Abraham, Christie, Daniel, Landry, Mercer, Reale and Walker.

Congratulations to MIP, Ed Mercer and MVP, Chris Heinig.

Finally, a special thanks to Mr. Dawson for his efforts as team videographer.

Spiking Machines and Other Lethal Weapons

This team was filled with experienced players. Since most of the players this season were graduating students, they had worked with extra dedication to leave a good impression. Under the serious guidance of Mr. Gaertner and Mr. Giel, the team had an exceptional offense, with veterans Julian Battiston and Julian Hall, joined by the talented new hitter Nathan Geddis-Maurice. Team captain Kam Chan provided leadership and excellent sets to complete our mighty attack.

Our team was talented and dedicated, working its way through the ISAA standings. Unfortunately, the team lacked a little luck and did not get to the finals. The team had many young athletic players, so next year will definitely have another memorable and exciting season.

Our team was a "late blooming" team. We did not start with a bang, as we had a habit of winning the first two sets and then losing the next three. We had a team with exceptional potential: our dominating hitter (Michael Tanumihardja), excellent servers (Alvin Poon, Ronald Cruz), a fine setter (James Lau), along with our enthusiastic cheering squad.

We leaped from being the last placed team to the sixth place in the quarter finals. Our setter was out for this game due to unexpected illness, so we had help from a novice setter from the first team, joining us late in the season (Jonathan Price). We faced Appleby; later the ISAA champion but our matches were very close. They only beat us by one set to resolve the final outcome, but did we ever come close to a major upset! We were on the verge of being the last placed team in the league, but through dedication and hard work during our practices and matches, we managed to surprise the league and even ourselves. And above all, our team definitely had lots of fun this season.

Our season was a fantastic one since we lost only one match all season, and this was at the very end, for the championship finals. We won the silver, but were undefeated during the entire regular season. Our captain Carson Cheung showed great leadership and it paid off for us. An unfortunate accident to one of our superstars a few days prior to the play-offs cost us dearly in the finals against a strong team such as Hillfield College. Nevertheless, it was a great season and I am looking forward to coaching most of those guys at 1st team level next year.

The criteria for making the U14 volleyball team this year consisted of one very important characteristic: DNA. Fortunately, the pool from which to choose was small, the talent was big. The team worked hard and played with heart and were defeated only once in regular season play to Crescent. We learned from our defeat and came prepared should we have a rematch in the final tournament. Both Crescent and St. Andrew's went undefeated in the tournament and met in the final round. In an exciting game, SAC played flawless volleyball in the third and deciding game. Congratulations to the Saints who are the ISAA champions. - Ms.Kravchenko

This year's season was one of high hopes and expectations. Our team was definitely one of the strongest in the league.

We played a hard season, winning the majority of our games, but losing some games we should easily have won. When everything 'clicked', we were almost impossible to compete with. However, that was seldom. The result was that we couldn't keep a solid standard of play on the field.

At the final tournament, we crushed Crescent 6-0 for the consolation , proving that we could have placed much higher in the standings. Thanks to all of our players: you gave 100% every game.

We played 16 games and finished the season with a record of nine wins, two draws and five losses.

The team received tremendous leadership down the middle from defender Alex Naghi and midfielder Paul Perrier.

It was also a joy to watch the tremendous talents of Justin Williams, Alfredo Moises and Federico Casas.

By the end of the season we entered the CISAA tournament as the number two seed. An initial victory over UCC-B sent us to the semi-final against Crescent who had proven to be a tough opponent in our previous three games. The boys played extremely well in a well fought victory. In the final we faced Hillfield-Strathallan College and fell short by the score of 2 to 1.

The MVP was Alex Naghi while our MIP was Marshall Doyle.

I would like to thank all of those on the team for their outstanding commitment and effort and hope that they will continue to be involved in the College soccer programme in years to come.

The U13 soccer squad began its season dominating at a CDS early bird tournament winning all of its games.

As the season progressed our team began to face much tougher challenges on the field and didn't fare as well as we would have liked. Nevertheless, we played hard and enjoyed ourselves.

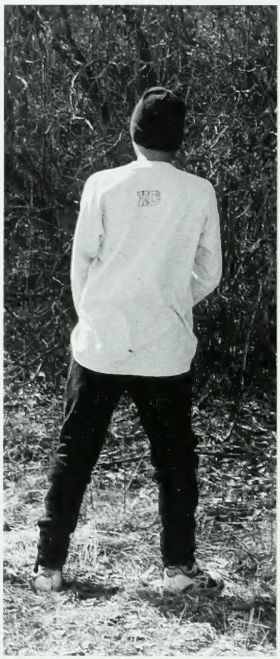
The highlight of the term was our annual trip to the National Invitational Tournament hosted this year by LCC and Selwyn House. We found ourselves in a tough division - dropping our first game to Ashbury College, the eventual winners.

Aside from the tremendous talent and exciting games, our boys made many friends in Montreal and were made to feel thoroughly at home.

Thanks to our captains Sergio Colin (MVP), and John- Ross Lennox, and to our MIP John Lentini. RR/FC

BIG STRIDES AND HARD WORK

SAC X-Country running captured the CISAA Championship



This cross country season proved to be the best to date. SAC's JR Boys finished second at the High Park Invitational, and the York Region Championships.

The team's accomplishments also include qualifying for the OFSAA Championships in London.

The entire team aided in the efforts to win the Independent Schools' Championship, which we have not won in 21 years.

The season proved to be very successful and could not have been achieved without the leadership and dedication of the entire team.

St. Andrew's Fencing

This year saw the return of Mr. Hemmings from a year spent in Paris. With Mr. Myrans in charge of the junior fencers and Mr Wally Yeung as the over-all coach of skills, the coaching was well in place.

An eager group of fencers started the year keen to fly SAC's colours despite having lost a number of senior fencers. There were 10 fencers in the senior group ready and able to do battle in the foil events and a good number of these also took part, for the first time, in the épee competitions.

We had four tournaments scheduled but because we competed against schools on a semester system we had to forego the final tournament as it was held the day before our exams began. After the third tournament SAC was standing 2nd of eight schools in the foil competition, 4th in the épee and 4th over-all. Danny Leung was standing 2nd out of 38 fencers in foil.

All the fencers are to be congratulated on their enthusiasm and dedication to a sport which is not high-profile but has all the ingredients to be a well respected activity. It has been referred to as 'physical chess' because it takes a combination of agility, speed, strength and, above all, intelligence.

Much has been made of the 'killer instinct' necessary to become a really successful fencer and yet there is not a more gentlemanly sport with all the tradition and ceremony. There is a true feeling of healthy competition amongst fencers and a spirit of 'may the best man win' with none of the mean rivalry that typifies some other school sports.

What is more, it is a sport which can be continued for many years after some of the other high school sports have been abandoned. It is hoped that SAC will long be an active participant in the Ontario High School Fencing Association.

Expansion Week

7 Days in REVIEW

Once again the second week of November saw the school's normal schedule suspended for a few days of varied activities outside the classroom.

Distance projects took students to the warmer climes of Costa Rica, Belize and Mexico; across the Atlantic to experience the cultural charms of England; and also to Churchill, Manitoba. Mr. Carnegie is to be congratulated of taking a small group to this much-neglected part of our country and experiencing another facet of Canadian life. Mr. Ray revived the well proven trip to Gettysburg and Washington D.C.

Vermont and Algonquin Park were the destinations for mountain biking and camping respectively. Other students were able to develop physical skills through the popular Indoor Climbing programme at the local facility in Newmarket. A small group of Grade Nines took advantage of our annual booking at Camp Norval.

The campus hosted several activities including a Music programme, an Art studio, SAT preparation, Remedial Math and National Lifesaving certification. Other students followed the Young Drivers' course. It must not be overlooked that Community Services activities helped SAC maintain and further its links with the local community.

No Hunger ... More Haggis

By Carey Chow and Gerald Li

Saint Andrew's Night. The Year's Greatest Scottish Feast.

It is right and proper that we should make a fuss over the day dedicated to the tradition of our patron saint. I have been troubled in the past couple of years when what we did militated against the success and enjoyment of November 30th: for a start because we didn't have enough seats in the Great Hall we asked the day boys who weren't in their first year at the school not to come; then to make the situation even less fortuitous we found it necessary to start upper school examinations on the very next morning. Poor St. Andrew -- I guess it wasn't his fault that someone chose the last day of November to honour him and that we have increased the size of the school in recent years to the point where it is difficult for all of us to assemble comfortably at once in either Dining Hall or Chapel.

The solution for which I pressed was that we should have two St. Andrew's Day banquets, one on the official day when the lower school can meet without exams hanging over their heads and one a week earlier for the upper school. Result: no one is asked to stay home, and everyone if he wishes gets to participate in the customary traditions of Selkirk Grace, Haggis, Scottish piping or dancing, Clan Awards and "Andrews". Looking back, I have no regrets whatsoever that we did as did.

On November 23rd eight members of our excellent pipes and drums band did us proud with two favourite tunes; then Headmaster's Piper Christopher Stock performed a medley made up of a hornpipe, strathspey, reel, slow march and jig. Guest speaker that evening was Stephen Pitel who graduated from SAC in 1986. In the past ten years he has gained academic degrees with distinction from Carleton, Dalhousie and Cambridge and now practises as a litigation lawyer in Toronto.

On November 30th the numbers were smaller and the atmosphere more intimate. The musical entertainment was provided by four lovely and skilful highland dancers from the Nancy Richardson School in Richmond Hill. They performed a broadsword dance, a highland fling, a chartreuse and a village maid dance. I attempted to provide the younger Andreans with an introduction to the literal meaning of Robert Burns' "Address to a Haggis". Guest speaker was another distinguished Old Boy, Paul Stanborough, who left SAC in 1981 to study at R.M.C. and after that was a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University. Paul reintroduced another feature of banquets which we had not observed in recent years, that of toasting Her Majesty the Queen. My thanks to all, especially those in the kitchen, who made it possible for us to celebrate St. Andrew in the way it should be done!

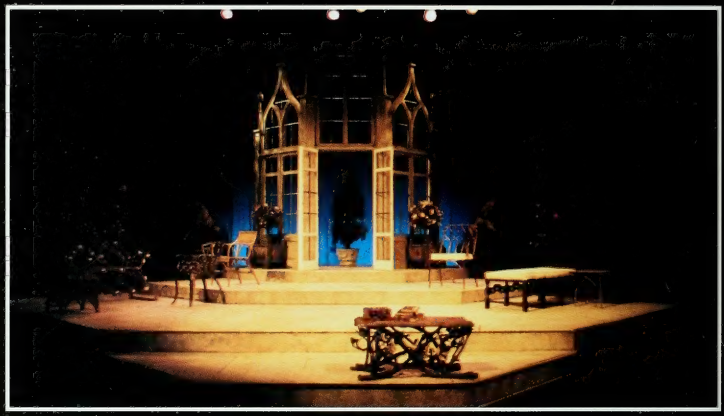
Oscar Wilde's, The Importance of Being Earnest

By Ricky Leung, William Diep and Carey Chow

Oscar Fingal O'Flahertie Wills Wilde was born on the 16th of October 1854 in Dublin. His father was William Robert Wilde, an eminent ey doctor and his mother was Jane Speranza Francesca Wilde. She wrote Pariotic Irish verses under the pseudonym, Speranza.



He was educated at Trinity College, in Dublin and later continued his university studies at Oxford.

Oscar Wilde's collected poems were published in 1881 and he toured America to lecture in 1882. He married Costance Lloyd in 1884 and had two sons.

Oscar Wilde was later charged with scandal offenses after he wrote plays such as Lady Windemere's Fan (1892), Woman of No Importance (1893), The importance of Being Earnest (1895) and An Ideal Husband (1895). In jail he lost all of his possessions.

In 1897 he left England for France and died a broken man on the 30th of November 1900. In 1912 a monument of Oscar Wilde was erected at his gravesite at Pere LaChaise Cemetery in Paris.

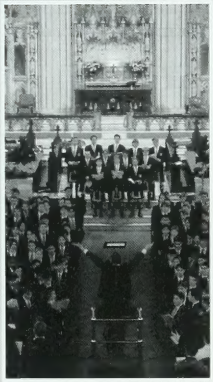
Carol Service

St. Paul's Bloor St - an Andrean Christmas tradition



Once or twice a year Andreans return to their roots in Rosedale Toronto - the home grounds of St. Andrew's College when it was founded in 1898. The College is privileged to hold its annual Cadet church parade and Christmas Carol service at St. Paul's Bloor street

At the Carol Service an opportunity is provided for the students, parents and friends of St. Andrew's to come together as a community in celebration of this special time of year. Every student joins in the singing of traditional carols and student choirs and instrumental groups are given a chance to employ their wondrous talents.

This Christmas was celebrated in triumphant fashion and featured many students who took part in readings and orchestral performances. Of note, the Headmaster's piper, Christopher Stock led the congregation in a moving rendition of 'Amazing Grace' and an original composition by teacher Mr. Wenk enjoyed its premier performance much to the enjoyment of the Andrean community who took part in this year's Carol Service.

Many thanks should go to the organizational efforts and talents of Messrs: Clements, Foy, and McGee. It was a wonderful and memorable occasion for St. Andrew's

This Fair Child of Mine

Paul Perrier

The inaugural production of the Junior Dramatic Society, "This Fair Child of Mine", was a great success. Directed by the well-known Stratford director, John Broome, the play dealt with parent-child relationships as portrayed in some of Shakespeare's plays. Consisting of short excerpts tied together with prose and a common theme, the production surprised many with its power and clarity. Demonstrating the fact that the issues dealt with in Shakespeare's time are the same as we face today, "This Fair Child of Mine" left all the audience members with many moral issues to think about.

Although not a widely publicized play, it was nevertheless a wonderful piece of artistry.

This flowering of acting talent left no viewer unconvinced that drama is an integral and highly professional facet of the St. Andrew's College experience.

I am a maid,
My lord, that ne'er before invited eyes,
But have been gazed on like a comet.
She speaks,
My lord, that, may be, hath endured a grief
Might equal yours, if both were justly weighed.
Though wayward fortune did malign my state,
My derivation was from ancestors
Who stood equivalent with mighty kings;
But time hath rooted out my parentage.

For the fourth time in the past six years, the First Basketball Saints caputred the Conference of Independent Schools' Athletic Association title with a well-earned victory over the UCC Blues. Unlike a year ago, when the win was sealed with last-minute heroics, this year's Championship game was easier on the nerves for the two hundred Andrean supporters bussed to Toronto for the final game.

Three top players, Derek Bulas, Jeff Lavers and Robert Sands, had all graduated from the 1995 team, but Coach David Josselyn was up to the challenge. The fine play and leadership of returning M.V.P. Tim Jackson '97, and the experience of Kevin Hurley '96 and Sean Cozier '96 on the frontline, game the team three of the top starters in the league.

Starting guard Chris Donnelly '97 and forward Neil Ritchie '96 provided first-rate perimeter shooting, and the team as a whole excelled at defense and from the foul line.

In the semi-final at Hillfield in Hamilton, the Sains were not expected to advance against the first place finishers. After three quarters the teams were tied, but in the fourth quarter the Saints put away the game, including a phenomenal twenty successful free throws out of twenty-four attempts.

Congratulations to all of the Saints players and especially to Coach Josselyn who has now won four titles, typing him in the annals of S.A.C. basketball history with the legendary H.V. (Hoary) Kendall (S.A.C. 1943-1961) who also won four championships in the early 1950's.

THE BEGINNING

SAC TIER II JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

Page and Article by Carey Chow with assistance from II basketball.
Pictures taken by Review Photographers, I. Ip and R. Ho

In years past the II basket ball team has learned that a coach was the most important player on the court; after just two years of coaching the SAC second team, Mr. Perrier has reformed it from winning just one game in five years, to winning a total of eleven games in the 1995-1996 season. He has instilled the basic fundamentals of basketball into the players so that all players improve dramatically throughout the season. The second team is nothing people can scorn at, for SAC junior varsity basketball this is a new beginning.

This year's team was lead by Ron Ho, Ivor Ip and Carey Chow. Being the most gifted shooter on the second team, Ronald Ho set the standard for being a three point threat. He knocked down 9 three pointers in one game. Ivor Ip was one of the two seniors on the team. He stepped it up during the first playoff game against Ridley and scored 23 points leading the Saint's into the Final Four for the first time in it's existence. For that outstanding preformance Ivor recieved the Most Improved Player award. From the way Carey Chow had tremendous skills when dribbling and passing the ball, but it was his leadership which helped him become the Most Valuable Player on II basketball.

Gerald Li contributed greatly to key wins. He was a teamplayer who knew his role on the court. William Diep, a second year player, had an abundance of skills. It took him a year to gain his confidence and in one game this year collected 9 rebounds. Raymond Jordan was an up and down player. His best game was a 23 points effort. Mike Tanumihardja's play drastically improved as the season progressed, his high game was a 16 point effort. In another game, Mike made a team record with four fouls in less than three minutes of play. Herbert Leung showed tremendous heart when playing basketball. Leon Nakagawa was the quickest and fastest player on the team. Ron Cruz added many important minutes for the team, his strength was vital for a rebound here and there. When Kevin Siu decided to come he was one of the most skilled and athletically gifted players on the team. Wayne Moyer was a minority on the team but he played so well that the he could have won the most improved player as well. Alvin Poon must be the hardest working player on the SAC second team. Alvin was the manager for the past two years and this year he finally made the team. He should be an example for all those who start basketball at a later age, it was Alvin's travail that made his basketball career successful. Horst Schuemer was this years manager, he spent the year learning the basic fundamentals of basketball, next year he will apply these in actual games.

For the players this season was just a fun ride. It consisted of bus rides to Appleby, tournaments and fun. The season was capped off with a tremendous 14 point, come from behind victory against Albert College and a bronze medal in the Shelbourne tournament an excellent effort from all members of the team. We must say goodbye to Ivor Ip and Alvin Poon, they were good friends and players and will be duely missed.Great Year. Thanks.

Tier 2 Hockey

This year was a rare year for Tier II Hockey. St. Andrew's did not have enough interested players to form a team. Rather than disappoint those who wished to play, it was decided to join with Pickering College and field a combined team. This venture went against the rules of the league. As a result, the league convener ruled, all games played by this team would be exhibition in nature and the team would have no opportunity to win the league championship

.The early bird tournament held at SAC featured four teams - Lakefield, Albert, Lake Rousseau and St Andrew's. Playing in a round robin format the winner was Lake Rousseau with SAC taking second place.

The exhibition matches during the season against TCS and Lake Rousseau were both exciting to watch. TCS beat SAC 4 to 3 when a last minute goal was scored. Lake Rousseau and SAC tied 1 to 1 in a hard fought match. Games against UCC, Nichols and Crescent schools were one sided affairs with St Andrew's losing all three games. The final game of the season, dedicated to the graduating players of St Andrew's and Pickering Colleges, against Albert College turned out to be the high point of the season. SAC won 7 to 1.

While not the most successful season on the ice, the coming together of players from two rival schools to play together was an experience to remember. I would like to thank the Athletic Directors of both Pickering and St Andrew's, Mr Dan McClymont and Mr Gary West for the extra time and effort expended on this team. Further thanks go to Mr Stuart and Mr Grenier for providing their coaching expertise. Finally congratulations to players who made a commitment and stayed with the team.

U16 Hockey

This year's team had high expectations and for the most part met them. It was a hard working group of boys whose success came from a dedication to team defence. With Jeremy Pedder injured most of the year, we didn't have the firepower to run and gun with UCC and most of the teams in the U17 York region league.

In York region U17 we played teams that were for the most part two years older, and that made quite a difference. But what didn't kill us made us stronger. The experience prepared us for the ISSA competition.

We started the year off well winning the Lakefield early bird tournament, scoring 46 goals in 5 games and only 3 goals against. Captain Tom Hirmer and Jeremy Pedder were named to the tournament all-star team.

The rest of the year in ISSA league play went as expected with SAC and UCC emerging as the two top teams. In the end SAC could not find a way to beat UCC, and thus our season ended in the semi-finals of the year end tournament to UCC.

Good luck to those players who are graduating from u16 and trying out for 1st.- Colin P.(MIP), Tom H.., Jamie Mac., Jamie T., Brian F., Chris W., and Jeremy P.(wherever you go). A special thanks to Ryan Gervais who was the team's most valuable player. On a team that stressed defence, Ryan was the best -good luck next year at B.A.

Thanks Fraz - let's do it again next year and get it right!! To the rest of the team , thanks for the effort, we'll expect more from you next year -be ready!

The season started, as most do, with several questions. Our relative lack of size, and definite lack of numbers combined with the fact that we did not have a goalie, (for the second straight year), made everyone a little nervous.

Our goal tending problems were settled when Tom Haney, the team's eventual MIP, agreed to strap on the pads. Tom's hard work and dedication paid off, and he went on to play every minute of every game. Our concern regarding the lack of players never became an issue, as we were able to play essentially the same two strong lines all season, suffering very few injuries along the way. Robbie Carter and Graydon Stock added much of our scoring punch, while Jack Popiel and MVP Paul Perrier contributed their steady, smart play making abilities.

Season highlights include a successful double header at Nichols School and the UCC invitational tournament. During the weekend in Buffalo playing Nichols we took 3 of 4 points in two games with a 2-2 tie and a 7-2 win. In UCC's tournament we took second place after losing 5-4 to Runnymeade school, the eventual Metro School League Champions.

Defensively we were led by the play of captain Alex Naghi and the much improved play of third year veteran, Ian Green. By season's end, we had defeated all of our opponents at least once and finished with a 7-3-2 season record, ranking us first for the final tournament. Unfortunately, a championship season was not to be, as we came up against a surprisingly strong Pickering College team in the first round. A 4-3 loss to Pickering after seven two minute overtime periods, and with only two skaters on the ice, relegated us to the losers' side of the play-off draw, where we finished first, but a disappointing 5th overall.

The coaches would like to thank all of those who were on this year's team for their dedication and hard work throughout the season, and on behalf of the team, and the many teams of the past, we would like to thank Mr. West for his dedicated efforts in arranging ice times, games, and buses.

Coach - Somerville

This was a year of growth for most of our team as for several players this was their first taste of organized basketball.
The team began the year at a slow pace but improved greatly as the year progressed. Several games were won and in several games, the team played well enough to manage to score fifty points or more per game.
John Chapple, our captain, was our consistently high scorer. However, many players improved their scoring ability as well as their defensive talents as the season progressed.

The Indestructible

The season began with an energetic training camp, with more than 30 players vying for the available spots. Returning veterans, and team captains, T. Newton, J. Wilson, and D. Wong set the pace from the beginning, leading the team through spirited workouts and scrimmages. After a week of workouts, and after a very difficult set of decisions regarding personnel, the 14 man roster was set.
By mid season we had a comfortable 10-3 record, and were starting to make a legitimate run for the finals.

As an intermission to our ISAA season (albeit, an active one), we travelled to the Montreal to play against two older and highly skilled teams. Even though we were on the wrong side of rather lopsided scores, proved to be the valuable elixir we needed when we returned to ISAA play. On our way to the tournament weekend, we defeated UCC 82-54 and Albert College 82-55. With our strong finish, we entered the championship as the second seed. A hard fought victory over Ridley (43-31), put us into the finals against Hillfield. We kept the score close, but we were forced to gamble at the last quarter. After working very hard to overcome a deficit, we lost the game 52-34.

Our ISAA record of 14-4 is a fitting tribute to this talented and dedicated group of young men. Month after month of learning complicated offensive plays, having to memorize odd verbal instructions from the bench, and suffering through afternoon study sessions prior to late practices was character building for both the players and the coach. Standout performances came from many different players throughout the season, with special recognition to our unanimous choice for MVP, T. Newton, and to our MIP, D. Sutton.

Thanks to all the players for a great year, and all the best in your future endeavours.

the team absorbing the master-plan.

Although half the team was either new to St. Andrew's or playing basketball for the first time, the U15 team had a great season losing only 4 or 18 games, including a tough loss in the semi-finals of the CISAA championship tournament.
The great team spirit and the genuine friendship players had for each other were the two main factors which contributed to the success of this team.
Good luck to everyone with their great basketball future at St. Andrew's.

Alpine Skiing - Webber

The First Ski team has finally produced a competitive team that almost won it all. After winning the first two races, the team finished off in third place overall behind an extremely strong St. George's team and a lucky U.C.C. team The M.V.P. was William Mercer and the M.I.P was Greg Berdette. The Seconds team had a development year and finished up in fifth place. The M.V.P. was Jon Price and the M.I.P. was Chris Abraham. The Junior team finished up in fourth place and the M.V.P was Alex Addison and the M.I.P was Jamie Near.

1st Swimming: Another Run at the Title

Though we had lost swimmers due to graduation the team spirit was as strong as ever, and, the addition of two new swimmers, Kirk Charles and Ryan Devald, helped to strengthen our team. We battled our way through the four qualifiers with amazing results, and it became clear to us that our only real competiton this year would be, once again, U.C.C. . During a hard fought final, the U.C.C. team proved extremley hard to beat, and in the end defeated us by a very small margin.

Two swimmers need to be recognized, Daniel Wells, this year's M.V.P. whose contribution to the team was limitless, and our M.I.P. Drew Ripley, who moved up from second team last year, has earned himself a spot aboard first. Special thanks goes to Mr. Walden, and Mr. Smith whose coaching expertise put us in contention against our rivals, for the title. Thanks for a great year, and here's looking towards a great upcoming season.

This year's second squad was one to remember. Battling their way through thick and thin this team had hopes of repeating, or hopefully bettering their perfomance from last year. However, in the final meet it was once again U.C.C. who took first, and despite the tenacity, and effort of these boys we finished third. A special mention goes out to Ms. Shield who came aboard as a second swimming coach this year, and her knowledge, and swimming experience were a great asset. Also a special mention should be made for Mr. Smith, whose coaching skill, and ability to read the newspaper at the same time, greatly assisted in molding this team into what it became. Finally we have the last two mentions, and they go out to B.O.L. Merriman, this year's M.V.P., and D.L.K. Mok, this year's M.I.P. Congratulations on a successful season, and good luck next year.

SAC SQUASH

Senior Team

This year's squash team was a strong team that worked very hard at each practice to improve. The team was divided in to two groups: The first team was made up of 6 players and the second team had 11 players.

The first team was composed of; Richard Lewis, Anthony Dougall, Justin Hui, David Real, Hugh Siddeley and Amaz Toufique.

The squash team participated in the Bishop's College School Ontario and Quebec Independent School tournament in Lennoxville Quebec. Richard Lewis was the senior runner-up and Anthony Dougall was the Under 16 winner.

In the ISAA squash league we had a good year. Ridley was simply outstanding and was out of our reach. So our team goal was to challenge UCC and we did have great matches against them. We had a good final tournament but unfortunately we finished third vs Ridley.

MVP & Captain:
Richard Lewis
MIP:
Amaz Taufique

This year's winner of the MVP award went to Richard Lewis our team captain. Richard held the number one position throughout the year. The MIP award went to Amaz Toufique.

In conclusion, I would like to give thanks to Mr. Jones for his terrific support and help this season and to Mr. Caves for his expertise and help. To all graduating player I would like to thank you all for your hard work and first class commitment.

After winning the ISAA Championship last year, the U16 squash team were eager to win it again this year. Endless drills on improving the players' skills and endurance proved to be useful when competing with other schools. Ben Hew and Daryl Evans constantly fought for the second rank position while Alan Leung remained first throughout the season.

With Adam Bradley's continual commitment to the team and Dan Thorne's enthusiasm for the game, we were almost destined for a back- to - back championship. Unfortunately, even after continuous painful drills the team lost to UCC in the finals. The end result of the tournament did not give justice to the hard work and effort the team displayed throughout they year. Even though we finished second in the tournament, as a whole we are indisputably first.

U14 Squash Triumph!!

The U14 Squash Squad was the most enthusiastic bunch of young guys you have ever seen, even though ten of them had never wielded a racquet before November. They rushed on court after classes each day, fighting their way up and down the ladder like snakes, with power and growing skill.

They all won matches against other schools in our unbeaten season. Our most exciting player was Sammy Lam who showed us how to play badminton-squash! He lofted his dropshots over an imaginary net, to give his opponents a chance.

The MIP is shared by the eager Cam Yau and the keen Oliver Radley-Smith. Brian Leung, James Duncan, Federico Casas, Michael Jones, Iain Rogers (Captain), and Brandon Wilson went down to Ridley on the final day to win 20 matches of 24 and the trophy for the first time - they all share in the team MVP award.

proudly keeping the tradition

Our 1st XI Cricket Squad was truly an international team. I t consisted of fourteen members from fourteen different countries in all. It all started on a cold, wet night in March in the warmth of the big gym. The trials of 1st XI Cricket had started and from that point on, an intensive series of day and night practices would begin. During our peak, the squad was training in excess of 15 hours a week. Optional practices were offered on Sundays downtown - everyone was there. The hours showed; with a team with only one club cricketer on it, we started to become confident and keen.

But it was to prove a tough road.. With danger always imminent in cricket, bruised ribs, hematomas, concussions, sprained ankles and lacerations came without warning. During practices and in games, the lads never showed fear and for this became better players. A sport in Canada which is so labeled as an non-athletic and boring sport, my batsmen would beg to differ. I heartily congratulate the boys who faced the two quicker coaches and survived to tell the story!

Our first game was at home and home was now at the Maple Leaf Cricket Club in King City. This is of course unless we wanted to play on the lower field where Square Leg could be in a powerboat giving Long On water-skiing lessons. It was versus the defending C.I.S.A.>A champions, Trinity College School. Confidence oozed from the very heart of the Trinity camp. It would shortly be pierced. We lost the toss and were sent into bat – a common call at this level of cricket. 169 runs and a few 6's later (one over the club house), it was our turn to bowl. And that we did and did well. The bowling was on line and length, and though only one wicket was taken, our devastating three run-outs from our elite field proved too much for Trinity to handle. Man of the Match was Amaz Taufique with 79 runs.

Next was Ridley at home. Again we lost the toss and were sent into bat. After our allotted 40 overs we had only posted 103 runs – Martin Landry with 31 of them. Under three runs an over required for Ridley; our fielding had to be superb and that it was. A wicketless first five overs must have set a fire under the pants of our lads because in the next 15 overs, 8 wickets fell. Wickets were falling faster than the other team could pad up. It was a great day, great weather, great cricket. Man of the Match was Richard Lewis with 6 wickets and a run out.

It was the turn of that team from Toronto to come to the O.K. Corral. With at least 6 clubs cricketers on their team, 3 playing second division cricket in the Ontario Cricket League all summer, and ten-fold experience over our lads, the game looked daunting. Incredibly, we won the toss and U.C.C. was up to bat. Again, our bowling was terrific. We had them 44 for 5 but unfortunately with such huge depth in their batting order they managed to scrape up 141 runs. We got ALL ten wickets. The weather looked bleak. I can't recall if it was me or the other coach who did the rain-dance but it was effective – and unfortunate. When the game was officially called off by the umpires we were needing 4 runs per over. The combined run rate of the three overs before the rain came was 8.3. At this pace, a sure victory was ours. Man of the Match was Martin Landry, with one of his three wickets getting U.C.C.'s most talented batsman out.

It was time to go on the road and we had to do a double header. Ridley on Saturday and Trinity on Sunday. A beautiful day met us in St. Catharines and MR. Chris Loat, a good friend and coach of cricket for nearly 30 years, took us to the dining hall to make sure we were well stuffed before taking the field. All kidding asie, we won the toss again and the Ridley openers were opening up. About 45 minutes later so were their ten and eleven. 24 runs made; top-scorer was Mr. Extra pitching in with handy 13 to give Ridley a total of 37. Off to tea and feeling confident. Back a bit late to see the St. Andrew's score at 4 wickets for 7 runs. Pacing very rapidly and not saying much apart from "stay in, stay in," the relaxing afternoon had suddenly deteriorated into a sweat fest. Slowly but surely, we prevailed and plugged it back in the 27th over. Man of the Match was Sean Cozier, our opener, with his unbeaten 23.

Sunday was Trinity and this time off to Port Hope. Trinity batted and made 139. We replied with 107, End of story! Economical bowling for Taufique and Mercer and solid runs from Cozier with 30 and Richards with 21 were high points of the game for us. We played U.C.C. on Wednesday knowing we couldn't clinch the championship and this could have been a factor in them making 202 runs. We fought back and had them sweating when Taufique made a very quick 40 with fours sixes and a boundary. Good batting from Landry and Richards also contributed to S.A.C making 114 runs.

This is my fourth and final season coaching cricket at St. Andrew's. I will leave with very fond memories of these years but especially this one. Although not high in experience and skill, the squad this year put full effort into every training season and into every match. We were the most humorous, loud and supportive team one could ever wish for, and it was this traditional cricket hilarity that made them my favorite team to coach. The boys' dedication to the team was unsurpassed and I am proud to have coached this team. My sincere thanks to all of you for your maturity, demeanor and support. A special mention to the Grade 13's – Beetle, Sean, Marty, and Rob, I hope you continue to play wherever you are headed and the best of luck in University. Thank you also to Michael "Tino" Jones for his scoring, to Coach Harris for his invaluable assistance, to Messrs Josselyn, McGee and Herder for their support and encouragement.

And finally... I would like to make a plea to all the faculty, students and alumni – KEEP THE SPORT ALIVE! I arrived four years ago to coach four teams – I leave now coaching one. It is a tradition that has been here since 1899, with Hockey and Football. Whatever your opinion on the sport, and I have heard all of them, St. Andrew's College would lose a huge part of its heritage if Cricketwas to disappear from its playing fields.

Rugby Program

First Rugby 1996

In a cold and wet spring, we only played six games. Yet we managed to impress at every stage. This year we were not to be denied. Convincing wins against Lawrence Park (20-10) and Markham (44-3) set the stage for the championship. Appleby were typically tenacious, but we prevailed. Ridley were not up to par, and an explosive first half at UCC set the stage for a convincing win there. All eyes now were focused on TCS. They were big, athletic and confident, but we scored first and defended mightily thereafter. We ended up on their goal-line, pressing the point home, and the celebrations began.

The 20 players selected in '96 clearly enjoyed their rugby, and the spectacle they put on was as fast, flowing, hard and exciting as any rugby SAC has displayed. The team was experienced and skillful, and John MacMillan and I enjoyed working with them during the frustrating early weeks. We saw growth in ability and teamwork. We were fit and mobile, and well-lead by Kevin Hurley. Jan Mathews, Julian Battiston, and Stewart Mottleyput in great work in the scrum, and Carl Zank was a force on the wing. Finally, Ryan Sommerville put in an MVP preformance day after day. To all the grads, good luck and good memories.

To all the others, savour the experience, but be ready for more in '97. The standard has been set for future years.

Over 12 days, we played four games in the largest cities Scotland - Glasgow, Aberdeen, Edinburgh, and Perth. The customary hospitality of ours - especially to Scotland - meant that we played with progressively less energy (we won in Glasgow but lost elsewhere).

The players were taken from grades 11, 12, and 13, and the experience gained helped us to very successful Senior rugby seasons back home.

Rugby tour stories are legendary, and I'm sure that those of '96 will remain in the minds of the party-cipants for years. As to '97.....? - S.S.

We had a very successful season this year. Our team record was seven wins,one tie and one loss. We also finished first in our pool and represented the school in the Second tier finals.

Our players demonstrated an outstanding commitment to our team and to becoming better players. They were lead to these standards by our team captain, Mike Farrugia. While we faced opponents that were often physically bigger than us, they played with discipline and hard work.

Our team MIP as selected by theplayers was Bren Christie. The MVP was our team captain, Mike Farrugia.

This year further adjustments in the logistics of the new age categories and the nefarious influence of Mother Nature conspired to hamper the success of this promising collection of Rugby enthusiasts. Out of nine matches scheduled at the beginning of the term we could play only 4 1/2 of them, and of these, three were at the under 17 level (which we were forced to play under protest).

Our opponents for the remaining 1 1/2 matches had had a 10 match season and had toured the U.K. in March.
Lest this appear to the reader as a cringing rationalization, let the record show that despite early personnel problems and the arrival of skilled opponents both from the outside and from within our own camp, the young gentlemen of this side competed with both vigor and honour. They played heartily right until the final whistle of the match on May 25th.

I must state that this has been a very enjoyable season for me. Working with this outstanding group of up and coming Andreans has been a most pleasurable experience.

My sincere thanks go to the men of U16 rugby and in particular, to the team leaders, Captain Andrew Weedon; Pack leader (and Driving Force) Adam Newton; Back leader: Alex Christie; and all around good guy: Sean Dudley.

obstacles became apparent at the CISAA Championships at McMaster University.

The championships saw the team at its collective best. There were many gold medal performances but just not enough to win the championship. The champion was not determined until the last of the relays had been run, a very close finish! In the end the team placed a solid second place, only losing by 17 points.

Although we did not capture the overall championship our seniors did manage to win their division.

Next year we look forward to another challenging season with a talented group of young men.

The 1995-96 tennis team had an outstanding season beginning with a spring training session in Collingwood. The team played, practiced and perservered through rain, sleet, snow and hail (often within the same hour) and kept their spirits up even though many of our matches were rained out. While we had definitely practiced more than any other team, our lack of head-to-head results left us seeded fifth in the final tournament. Every player on the team contributed timely wins and played above and beyond his potential as we beat several teams on our way to the final against a formidable UCC team. Thanks to Neil Ritchie for coming back healthy from Nepal, to Justin Hui who played hard and always smiled, to Andrew Ipekian for keeping practices intense, to Chris Mast and Anthony Dougall for providing our only win against UCC, to Dennis Choi for playing consistently well thoughout the year, and to Daryl Evans for being a "star".

The U16 badminton team had what can only be described as an outstanding season. During the regular season SAC played against seven different schools(Pickering twice) and of the forty matches played, lost only three. 1st single Ricky Luk, second single Dennis Wong and third single Daniel Thorne did not lose a game and thus a match all year. Very impressive!

But things were different at the CISAA championship at Humber College . Dennis didn't have his best stuff and neither did Asad Haque and Willie Kee the 1st doubles' team. Daniel worked hard but the competition against a stacked UCC team proved too much and he finished third. Ricky who was the team's MVP met a "new" #1 single from UCC in the final and lost his first and only match of the year. He rebounded and won the consolation final.

The surpise of the tournament and of the year was the gritty and determined display put on at the tournament by the second doubles team of the Albert and Herbert(the 'Berts and MIP's) Leung. In the final against and very confident UCC team the Berts found themselves down one game in a best of three and their backs against the wall. They dug down deep and came back to win the next two games in very exciting fashion to win the CISAA 2nd doubles championship. Well done.
A special thanks to Barry Wu and Royce Lo who practiced everyday but did not get into as many matches as they would have liked but were professional in their approach.

Thanks guys for a great season! SK.

The first meeting started out with nearly 20 boys who professed an interest in learning to play or improving their golf game. As time went by those who were not serious dropped off until we had a steady group of 11 keen, young golfers. They practiced regularly at the indoor driving range and when the weather finally turned clement we went outdoors to a driving range.

At first we gave our business to an old boy, David Dupuis, at Triple Flight Golf on Yonge St., north of Hwy 9 but then switched to the Phoenix Range to take advantage of a very good deal: $6 for a large bucket of balls AND a lesson. The pros here are very good and the boys went through all the strokes from the irons to the woods and made very noticeable progress.

The first outing to a par-3 course had us referring to the group as "Wreck" Golf but by the last outing of the year, once again to the same par-3 course, tremendous improvement could be seen!

All-in-all it was a very pleasant, rewarding and beneficial exercise and it is hoped that the boys can look forward to many more years of satisfying golf.

1st Lacrosse - Cowell, Robson

This year marked SAC's Lacrosse Dream team being realized. After many years of 'rebuilding' speeches on Prize Day we are finally able to say: we are BUILT! With our new uniforms and a new positive attitude we began our rainy season practising in the evenings in the gym. Our 26 man squad made us the largest roster team this term. The great news is that 19 of those players will return next season. With the inclusion of RSG, our ISAA league officially began this year culminating in a season final hosted by SAC. We finished second behind Ridley who were just too overpowering. What sweetened this year was the two wins over UCC. Other wins came against RSG and AMHS in Richmond Hill. The only weakness that will have to be targeted next season was the loss of too many leads in the games. We became known as a second half team, but will have to become a complete game team.
We would like to thank our graduating players: Capt G. Munro, S. Sutton, K. Lippe (goal), K. Brett (MIP), M. Thorne, R. Biggard, J. Bandali, and Capt. A. Tattle. Mr. Robson and I were pleased to have our MVP, Fred Perowne, and our MIP Kieran Brett recognized this year for the first time in SAC Lacrosse history with plaques. We look forward to many things next season; the terrible threesome on attack, two complete returning midi lines; breaking in a new goalie; a possible tour; and a fresh confident proud attitude in 97! Congratulations and thank you.

DAMN YANKEES

MUSIC AND LYRICS BY RICHARD ADLER & JERRY ROSS
BOOK BY GEORGE ABBOTT & DOUGLASS WALLOP

top - the boys of summer.

Adapted from http://www-paradigm.asucla.ucla.edu/DB/Issues/95/11.30/ae.yankees.h for the production produced by Saint Andrew's College.

Great voices, stellar performances, spectacular sets, flashy costumes and toe-tapping songs - these are the ingredients for a great musical.

"Damn Yankees" fills that recipe perfectly.

Revolving around a baseball team called the Washington Senators, "Yankees" follows fan Joe Boyd as he makes a deal with the devil to help the last-place team win the pennant.

While this production has perfect everything, the actors really make this show the fun musical it is. There isn't one false start in the entire production. Everyone on stage keeps their energy up, they're all in step and the rhythm of the musical is constant - most of the time.

The one person who breaks this rhythm is star Carl Zank. He plays Applegate (the devil) with class and style, but there's one thing he keeps making clear: This show is simply a vehicle for him to continue presenting his classic schtick.

When he's in character as Applegate, he runs at 100 percent. But the minute he finds an opportunity to show the audience himself, Zank the Comic, he takes it. This first happens after only five minutes, when he breaks character and cracks up because of something he said. And this is only the beginning.

A similar event happens in Act 2, but this time he causes the others on stage to break too. He begins impersonating Joe Hardy's country-boy mannerisms and exaggerates them to the ump-teenth degree. He becomes every character he's ever played in his slapstick comedies. It's a funny moment that Zank takes to the limit.

But these minor breaks are just a taste of what's to come. Zank gets the chance to bask in all his glory in his solo "Those Were the Good Old Days." He starts off acting as the devil and then in the middle of the song he just stops. The music quits and he goes into his act. The scene becomes "Live with Carl Zank." A new joke comes every time a crew member throws him a red cane (of which there are many), and, while the first couple jokes are funny, his schtick perhaps goes on for too long, making one wonder if we'll ever see the end of the show.

"Good Old Days" and the rest of Zank's slapstick routine isn't enough to ruin the show, though. The rest of the time he's great. As a matter of fact, the very next number, "Two Lost Souls," is a wonderful catchy duet between Applegate and his evil helper Lola. This scene proves that Zank can remain in character when he wants to and can do a stellar job.

Lola helps, though. She's deliciously evil as the devil's gorgeous sidekick and makes every scene she's in shine. Her perky attitude and platinum blond locks make it easy to understand why men have killed themselves for her and why Applegate has summoned her to seduce his newest victim. Lola fills the stage with energy and has the talent to go from seductive harlot to innocent helpful angel.

Her greatest moment is "A Little Brains, A Little Talent," which proves to the audience that she's not only a great actor, but that she can belt out a tune like no other. The solo is a highlight that adds the necessary bit of spice Lola makes her trademark.

But these two aren't the only shining lights in the production. Sister, Joe Boyd's sister-in-law, has enough chutzpah to upstage anyone - and she does. It doesn't matter who else is on stage or what they're doing. The minute she opens her mouth all eyes are on her. Although this attribute carries her through every scene, her spotlight performance comes in Act 1 when she meets baseball star Joe Hardy. She goes berserk. Her idol is not only in the same room with her, but has shaken her hand and kissed her on the cheek. The energy she exudes during this chance meeting overflows and fills the audience with pure delight.

These performances as well as all the rest create a mind-racing, heart-pumping show that keeps everyone's toes tapping and hands clapping in time with the music. While Zank steals the spotlight a little too often, his antics only add zip to this stellar production. "Damn Yankees" is without a doubt what classic musicals are all about.

I LOVE CADETS!

05 May 96
Dear Cadets,

In an era long before any of you were born, Hollywood used to churnout a series of "feel good" motion pictures. The plot varied little from film to film and usually followed this scenario: a group of talented teenagers, the cast usually headed by Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney, would use their artistic and dramatic skills to "put on a show". As the movie progressed some sort of crisis would emerge which put the production in jeopardy. But in the end good would triumph, the show would be a huge success, and everyone would be offered a try©out on Broadway.Life does not always mirror what we see at the movies but elements of these old flicks certainly resonated with our efforts this year. Our show, a multi-faceted extravaganza involving a cast of over four hundred, was scheduled to give three performances: the Annual Church Parade, the Headmaster's Parade, and the Annual Inspection. Our adversity, which we could not really overcome and could only work around, was the weather. Despite all this you really came through in a big way and the reviews are in from the critics. The many rehearsals paid off. The Church Parade last Sunday was graded by all who saw it. On Wednesday past the Headmaster's Parade brought pleasure to many older Andreans, most of whom who had also performed on the Quad, some over fifty years ago. The Annual Inspection yesterday was as good as any I have seen in my three decades at the College. We were hard pressed to pick a Best Platoon on the day. Pipes and Drums were at the top of their game and the Military Band added a whole new dimension to the event. We even started a new dance craze, the Highland Disco Fling. Julian Battiston has been asked to choreograph the dancing for a MuchMusic video.

On behalf of the Headmaster and my colleagues I want to thank you for your efforts and compliment you once again on what you achieved. You redefined the concept of team work and we are immensely proud of you. Move aside, Judy and Mickey. The Cadets of St. Andrew's College really know how to put on a show.

Kindest regards,

Geoffrey Smith

Valedictorians' Speech

June 14, 1996

K.H. "Oh, The Places You'll Go!"
- by Dr. Suess"

Congratulations!
Today is your day.
You're off to Great Places!
You're off and away!
You have brains in your head.
You have feet in your shoes.
You can steer yourself and direction you choose.
You're on your own. And you know what you know.
And YOU are the guy who'll decide where to go.

J.B. Your Honour, Mr. Chairman, members of the Board, Mr. Bedard, members of the faculty, distinguished guests, and fellow Andreans. Thank you for being here today to give importance to one of the most memorable days in our St. Andrew's lives.

K.H. Yesterday we walked through the busy halls and classrooms, unaware of our time here charging to an end.

J.B. Today we celebrate. We celebrate our graduation, our graduation into adulthood. We celebrate a new beginning and we celebrate our past.

K.H. Tomorrow we will have gone our separate ways, leaving those halls and classrooms quiet and hollow, and our time at St. Andrew's will be reduced to a memory.

J.B. After witnessing several valedictorian speeches at Prize Days over the past six or seven years, Kevin and I racked our brains for something original or new to say, some new-found insight to this timeless breeding-ground of tradition and dedication. However when we discussed what it was we really wanted to share with you, we found many parallels to what had been said in the past, meaning St. Andrew's leaves us all with common sentiments and emotions from year to year.

K.H. We all share similar emotions about unity, family, and friendship everytime Prize Day comes around, and as each year finally passes us by, there are certain moments that won't soon be forgotten. In this school year there was no shortage of big memories to make this year another unforgettable one.

J.B. Once again we managed to freeze the bustling streets of Bloor and Mr. Pleasant as 400 cadets dressed in bright red tunics led by a roaring band of Pipes and Drums paraded by the spectators who gazed in awe. And on the following Saturday, Cadet Commanding Officer Julian Hall led the entire corp to a very successful inspection.

K.H. For the 7th year running, Focus was hit, giving us a week of fabulous plays, concerts, and art exhibits. Like the program said, it was a festival of murder, morality, monkeys, marriage, magic, music, mockery and mayhem. Thanks to all those, especially Mr. Scoular, who devoted so much time and energy into making this an event that we believe St. Andrew's can't afford to lose. One consideration for next year though - maybe it's about time we put Inferna, "Mistress of the Dark" to sleep for good.

J.B. One of the greatest attributes of SAC is the privilege it gave me in meeting and building so many irreplaceable friendships. A friend is a person who intuitively recognizes and calls up the best part of ourselves, the most human, spontaneous, sincere, unenvious, kind part. A friend is a person who shows us other ways of being, but doesn't want to change us. He only helps us to develop our own potentialities. When we meet each other, even after many years, it will be as if we have said good-bye just a moment ago. We will continue the conversation as if it had simply been interrupted.

K.H. One close friendship of mine that I hope will never be interrupted in any way, shape or form, is the friendship I have with my roommate. We have roomed together in Memorial house for the past four years, and we helped each other survive our teenage years. I'll never forget our rock'n'roll days back in Grade 11, or our famous 'Sunday Night Chats'. Neil, I'm gonna miss ya.

I am sure that all of today's graduates have similar stories to tell, and that is what separates our school from the rest. We are part of a community of Andreans, and when we leave all the beautiful fields and buildings behind us, we will still be Andreans and we will still be a part of the fabric that holds this community together.

A couple of weeks ago, Julian and I were flipping through a book of famous quotes, and we stumbled across a quote from the famous nineteenth century Irish playwright, George Bernard Shaw about teaching. Ah...Jules? Why don't I hand this one over to you.

J.B. "He who can, does, he who can't, teaches."

Well maybe he was speaking of the teachers at UCC, because here at SAC, teachers have to play more than the role just teaching. They just be coaches, housemasters, guidance counsellors, parents and friends. when it comes to the bottom line however, contrary to what many of you might think, school is not about sports, or cadets, or bands. It's about education and teachers. When the graduates move on to university in September, we will not be tested on how well we can throw a ball or shoot a puck, but how much we learned in the classroom and the responsibility lies in the teachers to prepare us for that day. it's a gigantic responsibility but due to the teachers here, I'm positive we will all feel confident when stepping into that lecture hall or auditorium for the first time come Fall.

K.H. Many reference are made each year to the 'family' aspects of our tight-knit community - the brotherhood of Andreans before, during and after our prized education. I will not argue that this is a very important condition of school life at SAC, abut one must no overlook the overwhelming support from our individual families at home. Without their love, caring and understanding, today would not be possible. Each family makes sacrifices so that we can attend the best school in the country, and have the opportunity to success in the sport of life.

The decision my parents made to send me here over six years ago was the biggest point of my life. So Mom, Dad, I owe it all to you and I love you both. Brian and Michelle: thanks for your support over the years, I look forward to sharing the university experience with you.

J.B. When pondering over the importance of my true family, I remembered a letter that my father sent to me on my very first day at St. Andrew's College I hope my father doesn't mind but I'd like to share a portion of it with you.

'The most important thing for you to do is do the best you can whether it be in class, on the field, in the gym, or boarding houses. Equally important is for you to enjoy this most wonderful experience and opportunity of attending one of the best schools in the country. I'm sure your experience at SAC is something you will carry through your life too. The lessons you learn, the friends and acquaintances you make, will stay with you long after you graduate. Not every experience will be a happy one however, You will make mistakes and you'll do things you may later regret. I pray that you'll exercise good judgement, that you'll act like a gentleman, and as a Christian. Be honest to yourself, your teachers, and your classmates. Always have a clear plan to follow. Know in advance where you're starting from, where you're going, and how to get there. Julian, don't be afraid of what lies ahead. Instead be eager for what is going to happen. i wish I could be there too, but that's a fantasy. What I mean is, that I'd love to be in your shoes today.' Dad - Sept. 11, 1989.

K.H. To the undergraduates: this will be your school in the years to come. Enjoy It! Make your mark! You will be asked to fulfil many responsibilities and you must not give up but have the confidence in yourself to know that you will be successful in whatever you choose to do. Perseverance is defined as "the ability to persist in anything undertaken in spite of difficulty or obstacles." When your time comes, you must persevere and rise up to the challenge, and it is then that you can call this school your own.

J.B. To the graduating class. This is the last day and the first day of a giant chapter in our lives. It's the last day of our attending the school in uniform, in kilts, in hockey jerseys, and rugby shirts. It's the first day away from the securities of high school and into a world of which we know very little. Everything we have been taught up to now has been geared for our lives outside the classroom. It is now up to us to put every bit of this knowledge into ensuring our success. While striving to succeed, we cannot forget the place where it all began. To lose focus of the past will ultimately lead to losing focus of the future.

It has been our honour and our privilege to be your Head Prefects this year, and we thank you. We would like to leave you with another dose from Dr. Seuss and hope that you have a great year and have many more to follow.

K.H. So be sure when you step.
Step with care and great tact and remember that Life's a Great Balancing Act.
Just never forget to be dexterous and deft.
And never mix up your right foot with your left.
And will you succeed?
Yes! You will, indeed!
(98 and 3/4 percent guaranteed.)
So ..be your name Buxbaum or Bixby or Bray
or Mordecai Ali Van Allen O'Shea,
you're off to Great Places!
Today is your day!
Your mountain is waiting.
So..get on your way!

Headmaster's Speech

Your Honour, Mr. Chairman, Members of the Board of Governors, Colleagues, Parents, Students and Friends of the School. We are most indebted to His Honour, the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, for his presence this afternoon. Only moments ago, His Honour received an Honorary Doctorate from York University, and we are grateful to him for sharing this day with us.

St. Andrew's College exists and functions thanks to the interest and dedication of many. May I commence my remarks by expressing my sincere appreciation to our 48 teachers for their competence in fulfilling their most demanding roles. Thanks to the parents who by their very presence today give proof of their ongoing interest and support. Thanks to the Ladies' Guild and the SAC Association for their continuing hard work and generosity. Thanks to the countless people who give selflessly of their time and talents. To Jim Herder, our Director of Development, who along with his team, gives so much of himself to so many areas of school life, and a special welcome to Michael Roy who has joined the development office; to Doug Campbell and his competent and diverse staff which includes the maintenance, grounds, medical and dining personnel. And thanks to you, the students, for a wonderful year.

Perhaps the least heralded constituency of the school is the Board of Governors. May I express my gratitude to the Board and its committees who work silently in the background. Without their loyalty, sound judgement and global understanding of the issues that face St. Andrews, Prize Day would be a shallow exercise, indeed.

Today, I would like to take this opportunity to pay tribute to Peter Harris, who has had an extremely difficult year, contending bravely with ill health. Peter has served the school as Chairman of the Board for over 17 years. He is a guiding light for St. Andrew's, always relating any new information, be it literary, academic or political to the best interests of all of us. Progress and development of the students and the staff are uppermost in his mind at all times. Regardless of Peter's personal circumstances this past year, he has kept in constant touch, always wrestling with ideas and plans which will benefit each and every one of us and the school we all love. I, for one, am deeply indebted to him both personally and professionally for his wisdom, his strength and his devotion, and will continue to count on him.

At least once every 7 years, the Canadian Educational Standards Institute conducts an evaluation of its participating schools. For a 4 day period this past April, an 11 member team, chosen from various departments of other Independent schools, assessed every aspect of St. Andrews. For three months prior to this, we conducted an internal evaluation under the competent leadership of Mr. Greg Dominato. Many members of our Board, parents, staff, and students took an active part in the process. Their involvement is much appreciated.

I would like to read the first two paragraphs of the report submitted by the Institute. (and I quote) "The committee enjoyed the warm welcome and cooperation of all constituencies of the St. Andrew's community. Our efforts were facilitated in every way, and we would like to express our gratitude."

"The school's internal evaluation, while complete, did not do full justice to the depth and scope of the supportive educational environment that we discovered in this excellent school." (end quote)

A few years ago, our Academic Director set a goal whereby 25% of the student body would obtain First Class Honours. This goal has been surpassed. In fact, today, 31% of the students will come forward to receive their general proficiency prizes. You will also notice that 38 graduates are Ontario Scholars, another record. So far, 10 boys have been offered scholarships from universities across the country, and just about every graduate is in the process of deciding which university offer to accept.

This year, more than 100 students took part in academic competitions at regional and national levels. Results in the compulsory testing in reading and writing for all Grade 9 students indicate that we have maintained our #1 standing in York region by a wider margin than in the previous year. In the Ontario Biology competition, St. Andrew's came 16th out of 245 schools, and in Mathematics, some 60 boys participated regularly, twice as many of whom surpassed last year's results. Of particular note, is Roger Chan's perfect score in the University of Waterloo Gauss contest.

To be in good standing at graduation time, a student must complete his community service requirement. We have modified the time demands, and now ask each boy at each grade level to do ten hours a year. This modification has proven to be very effective, and our students are becoming much more involved in serving the community.

It would require much research to unearth a more successful athletic year than 1995-96. Our representative teams now number 57 in 19 different sports. 23 of those teams came either first or second in their respective divisions. Only First teams can win official championships in the Independent School Competitions. This year 5 of our First teams won such championships. For the first time in the school's history, the cross-country team took first place out of 8 schools. First Basketball, though a definite underdog, won for the fourth time in 6 years under Coach Josselyn. First hockey distinguished itself by winning the prestigious MacPherson tournament, by finishing first in Independent league play, and by gaining entry to the OFSSA Provincial championships. Nordic skiing took top honours in both the independent League and in York Region. Finally, first rugby thrilled us all by defeating a highly rated TCS team to earn yet another championship for SAC.

Six years ago, Mr. William Scoular launched Focus, a 3 day Arts Festival that has given the students an outlet for their artistic, musical and thespian talents. Each festival seems to be more successful than the previous one. It was certainly the case this year when our painters and sculptors, our choir and bands, our poets and writers, our directors and producers of 11 plays, educated and entertained the school community with some humorous, dramatic and highly sensitive productions.

This was a fitting conclusion to a cultural year in which we staged The Importance of Being Earnest in the fall, and Damn Yankees in the winter term. The musical, Damn Yankees, involved upwards of fifty boys in various capacities working either on or back stage. Furthermore, delightful performances by the Pipes and Drums, and the newly formed Military Band, Jazz ensemble, Concert Band and Choir enriched campus life throughout the year.

Senior and Junior debaters entered a full complement of tournaments and competitions. Our top seniors competed in an international public speaking event in Boston, and some of our most promising Grade Nines travelled to Bermuda over the Thanksgiving Weekend for a series of debates.Special mention to Pierre Alexandre Filion who established himself as the best bilingual debater in Central Ontario.

The most ambitious undertaking of the year in this field was the hosting of the Nora McRae Public Speaking Tournament here at St. Andrews in April. Our thanks to a corps of 70 volunteer judges and Messrs. Rupert Ray and Bob Arril who co-ordinated this event.

For the third time in 5 years, a group of students travelled to the Himalayas for a 6 week journey with the sherpas of Nepal. Following a third visit to the school by Sir Edmund and Lady Hillary, 8 well-prepared boys and 2 teachers took up the challenge of Mount Everest. After a period of acclimatization, the group endeavoured to complete the painting of a monastery at an altitude of 15000 feet. A wonderful experience!

The nature of an educational institution is one of flux and change: each year, some 80 graduates proffer their goodbyes, while others head in different directions. The constants are the traditions, the ethos, the philosophy - and the staff. This particular school year will witness, however, some changes in the latter.

This June marks the end of Mike Hanson's 9 year tenure as Housemaster of MacDonald House. We are deeply grateful to him for his efforts on behalf of all Grade 7, 8 and 9 boarders during that period. A formidable task, a job well done Mike & Diane. Mr. Robert Giel has been appointed to succeed Mr. Hanson and will become only the 8th Housemaster of MacDonald House.

Since 1982, the school has benefitted from the services of a master craftsman, a cabinet maker, a mr. fix-it, all in the person of Roy Meacock. Just about every room in the school bears Roy's signature. He will be missed, as he carves out a well-deserved retirement.

Three gentlemen, with us for a short period, will be leaving in a few days. Mr.Rob Horvath, who assisted in Memorial House, recently completed his master's degree at McMaster, Mr. Paul Eyres, on a Gap year, has enroled at the University of Nottingham, England and Mr.Chris Caves, assistant in Flavelle House and contributor to Second Rugby and Second Tennis, proceeds to the Education Faculty of Edinburgh University. We hope to see you again soon.

Also leaving us to pursue his studies in forestry at the University of Auckland, New Zealand, is Mr. Peter Carnegie, who for the past three years has been the assistant-housemaster of MacDonald House. Peter has been invaluable, especially with the grade 7s and 8s. He has spearheaded many a squash tournament, and this last term, he coached our First Cricket team to an outstanding season. We thank you sincerely, Peter. He will be succeeded by Mr. Nick Tsioros.

The school's first archivist, Douglas Worling, class of '46, has reached that magical age when the smart ones among us decide to seek a reward for all their years of hard work. Douglas has made the school's history come alive through his uncanny sense of tradition, his attention to detail, and his loyalty to his beloved St. Andrew's College. One only has to visit the newly-developed archives' room to appreciate the full value of Douglas' work. May you and Vera find the next episode of your lives both enjoyable and productive.

For the past 20 years, Helen Williams has toiled without fanfare in the far corner of the Bursar's office, churning out hundreds of cheques, making innumerable entries into journals, pouring over every Bell Canada statement with an expert eye, allocating the proper budget for each account payable, and attending to the most demanding tasks of financial bureaucracy. All of this Helen has accomplished with complete accuracy, discretion, and composure. Helen will be leaving us this summer, and we shall miss her absolute professionalism. We wish her and her husband George a healthy, fulfilling and well-earned retirement.

Since 1968, Dennis Hemmings has taught French to some 2000 Andreans, has given fencing an important position in the school's athletic programme, has upheld a high standard of physical fitness, and, through wit and uncanny articulateness, has lent the Masters' Common room a modicum of levity, and kept the masters on their toes.

Dennis will also be remembered for his various teacher exchanges, returning each time with a broadened global perspective which he shared with the school community. These exchanges led to the presence of Amanda and Andrew Brown from Malborough College in England, whom we still fondly remember, and to Monsieur Abolivier and Mademoiselle Chalvesche, who made us appreciate Dennis even more.Thanks Dennis for 28 good years.

For the past 33 years, one of the most popular couples on the campus has been Gary and Wilma West. They have worked behind the scenes at most unofficial staff and school functions and are always there to lend a hand. Wilma and Gary have supported all the school's activities over the years, from the Highland Dancing at the June Balls to the more recent successful Red and White Fundraisers.

Gary has taught General Science, Phys. Ed., Biology and Health, while tending to the myriad number of details endemic to the position of Athletic Director. His philosophy has always been to ensure the participation of the largest number of boys possible in any given game or physical activity. Gentle, kind, compassionate, dedicated, professional - these are the words that come to mind when Gary's name is mentioned.

Gary's talents are sometimes overshadowed by his humble nature. In fact, he is an incredible athlete, equally at ease on the hockey rink, the football field or the basketball court. He is a master-carpenter, having built his retirement home himself; he is a magician on the blackboard, writing equally well with both hands at the same time. Gary's sense of humour, his sense of fair play, his unfailing willingness to come to the aid of his colleagues are part of his legacy. Gary and Wilma will be truly missed.

This past term, the school suffered heart-wrenching permanent losses. First there was dear Megan Cameron, taken away soon after her fourth birthday. Then Bert Munns, our Quartermaster for the past dozen years, also succumbed to cancer. Finally, a Memorial service was held in our chapel for John Ellis, class of 32, one of our most loyal benefactors . On all three occasions, the Pipes and Drums enhanced these beautiful ceremonies with a Lament, which embraced and touched the history of both the school and of the families involved.

Members of the graduating class of 1996, as your last day as a schoolboy here moves swiftly by, these surroundings may provide a setting for thoughts on what St. Andrew's has meant to you.

Why did you come to this school? You came here, first and foremost, to acquire knowledge.

Never scorn the acquisition of knowledge. However much the map of learning changes throughout your life, you will find yourself living off some of the intellectual capital that you acquired here.

Yet learning how to analyze a problem, be it in chemistry or maths, or how to express yourself clearly and succinctly in English or computerese, important though these skills are, is not what most of you have sought here. It is not the retention of specific information scribbled in a notebook that will mark you for life as belonging to the class of 1996. It is, rather, the acquisition of particular behaviour, attitudes and values. I hope that your years at this school have taught you to see the world through a critical lens and to be polite when you dissent, and modest when you assert.

I hope that you will take with you from here the deeper realization that human worth is measured not by the acquisition of things or of power, or by importance of position, but on other less easily defined qualities: compassion, humour, a sense of beauty, honesty and integrity - qualities that outreach and outlast selfish interests and the concerns of the day.

But most of all, I hope that your years at St. Andrew's have given you one greater quality: generosity of spirit. By generosity of spirit, I mean freedom from ignorance, bigotry and a narrow life. I mean a sense of brotherhood and a deep respect and tolerance for your fellow man or woman no matter what his or her race, religion or social status.

In closing, I would like to ask you to look around you today - to relish and preserve in your mind's eye and your memory this treasured moment at this classically beautiful school.

Never again will you graduates be at this pure moment of your existence, when all the roads are open to you. Perhaps never again will you have friends, colleagues and teachers as pure in their friendship. Never again, probably, will your families be quite so specially proud of you.

So, as you pass through the memorial gates for the last time as a student of St. Andrew's, seize the moment joyfully. And always remember these golden days.

Becoming Human
by Matthew Ward (Grade 11)
Topic: "Manners Make the Man"

We have all encountered this situation before. John receives a sweater from his Aunt Martha for Christmas. It doesn't exactly suit his taste yet he still thanks her for the sweater, maybe even telling her he likes it. When his Aunt Martha leaves, John complains how she should have just given him money instead of the tacky sweater. He never puts any thought into the fact that she put her time, effort, and money into getting him a present. Although he showed manners by thanking her, he showed no real appreciation for the gift itself. It is not manners but human compassion, sensitivity and understanding which truly make the man.

There are so many mannerly things we do in a day without even consciously thinking about them. We wish people a "good morning", we ask people how they are. I'm sure I would not be the first to confess that I have wished people a 'good morning' when truly I wish them no such thing. When you ask somebody how they are, it is often so routine that we don't even listen to the response. Often he response lacks honesty also. We will respond with "Fine, thank you" when everything might not be just fine. This built-in civility leads to dishonesty between people. Young children are often thought of as rude and unmannerly when they tell somebody, "I don't like you." Because they don't have a built-in manner mechanism yet they are truthful with us. It seems as though dishonesty is the net result of the unconscious acts of politeness. It is honest that is more of a human trait than dishonesty. Therefore, manners can not truly make the man.

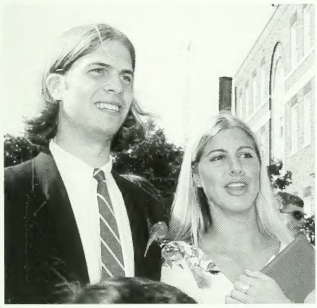
Many people state that manners at the dinner table are only there in order to ensure that nobody is made uncomfortable. This refers to the fact that people might have a hard time keeping their food down with somebody belching, gulping, and eating like a pig. The implementation of manners that stop this type of behaviour at the dinner table can be seen as justifiable and logical, but what about manners which go beyond the logical to the illogical? The practice of placing the knife and fork parallel on the dinner plate after finishing the meal seems to be in the category of the illogical. How could the geometric placing of eating utensils after completion of a meal make fellow diners fell any more comfortable? This might be useful to a waiter in the restaurant but it is not necessary in one's own home.

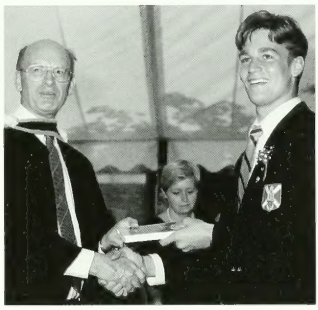
When manners have no meaning they become useless rituals. By practising them we are not any more useful than the rituals themselves. In the short story "The Lottery" by Shirley Jackson, a futuristic society holds an annual event in which each citizen of the town is entered in the "lottery". Many people don't even know why they hold the event, yet each year the lottery is held and the people that win are stoned to death. The story never states that there is rampant overpopulation and starvation. The reader can therefore conclude that this is only a meaningless practice. This might be seen as a drastic analogy but w can see examples of illogical, yet accepted practices everyday in the news.

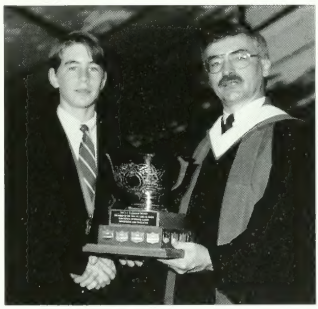
Grapefruit farmers in Florida let fields of grapefruit rot because they would actually lose money according to economics if they harvested and sold them on the market. The same thing happens when there are over abundances of other products such as wheat, milk and eggs. Imagine how many starving people could be fed if this accepted economic practice did not take place. It is lack of human compassion and sensitivity that leads to this.

We have all heard people telling us that we "should" do something regardless of whether we "would" want to do it. It is those people that do things because they should that are at the root of manners without meaning. As we get closer to becoming compassionate and sensitive humans, we will not be doing things because we should but because we would want to. It is my hope that I am getting closer to that stage every day. Because with that stage closer in sight, I am much closer to making myself a man.

"dishonesty is the net result of the unconscious acts of politeness"







VALETE

The School bids a fond farewell to a number of staff who offer their goodbyes after enriching the College and community in many ways. St. Andrew's will miss them and we are deeply grateful for their many contributions.

Mr. Gary West has taught at St. Andrew's for the past thirty-three years and as the College's Athletic Director has made a tremendous contribution to the success of our Phys-ed and Sports programmes. The Andrean community will deeply miss Mr. and Mrs. West and we wish them the very best for a happy, well deserved retirement.

Since 1968 Mr. Dennis Hemmings taught French to some two thousand Andreans and gave Fencing an important position in the School's Athletic program. Staff and students will miss his outstanding contribution to SAC. Mr. Hemmings, we thank you for enriching the school in countless ways and wish you well in your retirement.

St. Andrew's first archivist Mr. Douglas Worling (SAC Old Boy 1950) retired this year after reminding us all about the importance of keeping our history and tradition in good order so that our legacy may be enjoyed by future Andreans. We thank Mr. Worling for his patience, dedication, and attention to detail that has enabled our collection to grow and to be proudly displayed. We wish the Worlings an enjoyable and fulfilling retirement.

Mr. Joe Hardiman leaves us after many years of committed service to the College. Joe's good humour and enjoyment of a good story made him well regarded by boys, academic and support staff alike. Ever vigilant and often working long hours in the administration of our custodial staff, Joe saw that his crew kept our buildings in 'spit & polish' perfection. We are grateful for his long standing contribution and sincerely thank him and wish him well in his retirement.

Since 1982 the School has benefitted from the services of a master craftsman, a cabinet maker, a Mr. Fix-it, all in the person of Mr. Roy Meacock. Just about every room in the School bears Mr. Meacock's signature. We offer our thanks and appreciation as he retires to 'carve out' a well-deserved retirement.

Leaving St. Andrew's to pursue his studies in forestry at the University of AUckland, New Zealand, is Mr. Peter Carnegie. For the past three years he has been the assistant housemaster of Macdonald House and has coached many a squash player and has offered his cricket expertise to carry our Cricket teams through outstanding seasons. Many thanks and best wishes.

For the past twenty-one years Mrs. Helen Williams has lent her quiet professional skills to her work in the Bursar's office. She has tended to the many demanding tasks of finance with pleasant, good-natured efficiency and the College is grateful for her untiring patience and competence. We will miss her and wish her and her husband George a healthy, fulfilling and well-earned retirement.

The School and especially, our Cadet Corps was very saddened by the passing of Mr. Bert Munns who was our Cadet Quartermaster for over the past twelve years. During his time at St. Andrew's Mr. Munns took a passionate interest in every cadet activity and his friendly and enthusiastic expertise and his tireless help to our Corps will be deeply missed by us all.
